Russ Trounced In Effort To Label U.S. Aggressor

Recount Of Larkspur's City Election Ballots Under Way

County Clerk George S. Jones began a recount of the Larkspur city election ballots today at the suggestion of Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court.

Jones is to present his figures, along with ballots challenged by three Larkspur City Council candidates or their attorneys, to the court next Thursday. Judge Brusatori will then rule on the challenged ballots.

More than 1,300 ballots are to be counted. Jones began the count at 11:30 a.m., after a court hearing, with the three candidates gathered around him in the board of supervisors' chamber.

Only eight votes separate the contenders — Lesly A. Daveler and Daniel Allen, who were declared elected, and Mrs. Jane Epidendio, who was declared defeated in the April 12 election.

The county clerk will add up the votes, setting aside only those that are challenged. The challenged votes will go before Judge Brusatori next Thursday at 10 o'clock.

At that time the judge will rule on whether the recount demand filed by Mrs. Epidendio is valid. If he decides it is, he will decide which of the challenged ballots should be tossed out.

The actual physical recount of ballots started with agreement by all three candidates.

The judge said he was not yet ready to rule on whether the recount is necessary, but the candidates agreed to go over all the ballots today so time can be saved next Thursday if the recount is ordered to proceed.

Mrs. Epidendio, who trailed Allen by four votes and Daveler by eight votes, is represented by attorney William Corrigan. Allen's attorney is Wallace S. Myers. Daveler appeared in his own behalf without a lawyer.

Myers and Corrigan fought a verbal battle before Judge Brusatori this morning. Corrigan contended that counting of the absentee ballots by the city clerk and members of the city council violated an election law requirement that the county clerk or his appointed deputy should count them.

Myers replied that, if that is a violation, then every city in the state is violating the same law because this procedure is normal practice.

If councilmen count the absentee ballots, the incumbent councilmen in effect would be counting their own ballots, Corrigan maintained. He asked the judge to toss out all the absentee ballots. Beofre the absentee ballots were tabulated. Mrs. Epidendio was ahead of Allen by seven votes.

Federal Official Told Of Gate Park Need

The General Services Administration has no quarrel with surplus Fort Baker land becoming part of a state park, Marin mayors learned last night.

John R. De Mun, chief of the acquisition and disposal division of GSA's public buildings service in San Francisco, found himself somewhat unpopular at the Marin Council of Mayors meeting at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

But De Mun said he had no quarrel with the Fort Baker land becoming a park —he had just been carrying out standard policy in advertising it for sale at public auction. (The sale was canceled, in favor of negotiation with the state, after a protest by Marin State Sen. John F. McCarthy.)

De Mun was to meet today with Charles A. De Turk, chief of the California Division of Beaches and Parks, who was also present last night, to begin negotiations.

"I have no doubt that as far as Fort Baker is concerned . . .it will be a state park," De Mun told the mayors.

To make sure the mayors' stand would be understood, Mayor Robert P. Watkins of Belvedere proposed a resolution which was immediately approved. 'Watkins moved that "We as a group support the belief that this 73-acre area should be reserved for recreational purposes as a part of the eventual Golden Gate Park in counter-distinction against development for subdivision purposes."

De Turk spoke first at the meeting, following introductions by host Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. of Sausalito.

He said the problem of the 73 acres is the symptom — not the disease."

Plaguing not only California but all the other 49 states, said De Turk, "is the problem of the division of open space and people. . . . The use of the land deserves more study and more research than General Services Administration has been able to give to it," he declared.

"We feel contrary to GSA that the use of land, the value of land to people, far exceeds the dollar value that the U.S. Treasury can recover from the sale of the land."

He said, "We're paying now $120 an inch in Santa Monica for beach land which could have been purchased—the entire beach — 40 years ago for $125,000."

De Turk stressed the fact that land can be turned over to the state for its historical

New Transit Proposal Calls For State Aid

A new method of constructing the Bay Area Rapid Transit System employing state personnel, was proposed today by Thomas Casey, San Mateo director of the transit district.

Casey proposed the work of engineering and supervision be done by the California Division of Highways under the state Joint Powers Act, which would allow use of already established state engineering offices, purchasing and other facilities.

GAS TAX LOAN

He suggested also that 75 per cent of state gasoline tax funds allocated for freeways in the five counties of the district be loaned to the rapid transit district at no interest to help pay for construction. He estimated this would bring about 200 million dollars over the five years.

Under the plan, state funds furnished cities and counties for their own road construction would not be touched. Involved would be only funds allocated to state highway construction. Casey said "the trunk line highways" throughout the district would be practically completed by the time the transit district needed funds.

WELL RECEIVED

Also, he pointed out, federal funds for road building in the district would be available for use on major arteries. "If we handle the construction ourselves, we'd have to setup a whole new empire of engineers and then, after five years, hack them off," Casey declared. "The division of highways already has the engineers. . . . We would eliminate duplication."

The plan was well received by the surprised directors.

Chile Hopes For End To Its Ordeal

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Hope rose today that southern Chile's ordeal may be ending after five days of earthquakes, tidal waves, avalanches and volcanic eruptions that sent the toll of dead or missing to nearly 3,000.

The University of Chile's observatory reported only two new quakes last night and early today in the devastated region and both were weak. It said the seismic violence that altered the topographical map of the region seems to be dying.

The official death toll so far was 2,829 dead or missing, two million—a fourth of the nation's population — homeless and 300 million dollars property damage. And the count was mounting steadily.

U.S. SENDS AID

The U.S. Air Force joined in flying relief through the smoke billowing from volcanoes.

With countless communities still cut off and the upheavals of nature continuing, officials could not even predict the final toll. Low-lying clouds and rain hampered aerial rescue operations. Smoke and ash from volcanoes hung over much of the southern part of the mountainous land.

The Interior Ministry listed the known dead at 1,706 and 1,123 missing and presumed dead.

ISLANDS ISOLATED

The face of the country itself was altered by the disturbances which began Saturday. Three new earth tremors were reported yesterday. Tidal waves up to 15 feet high still pounded along 750 miles of the southern coast. Many islands along the cost could not be reached for word of their inhabitants.

In Cautin Province the earth's surface dropped as much as 1,000 feet over a 25-mile stretch. Two new lakes formed in the Andes near Lake Rinihue. Avalanches filled valleys with stone and earth.

CITY SHAMBLES

Ashen-faced refugees flown here from battered Puerto Montt said the city of 20,000 on the south central Chilean coast was a shambles.

"There is little water and almost no food," said Antonia Ugarte. "The injured in the hospital had to be moved into the street for fear the building would collapse."

Finance Minister Roberto Vergara at a news conference emphasized the grave economic crisis posed by the disaster.

MARIN TIDAL WAVE ALERT CALLED OFF

The Coast Guard alerted coast communities in Marin to prepare for a possible tidal wave late yesterday, but the alert was called off.

The warning said unusual sea movements could be expected along the entire coast. The California Disaster Office in Sacramento alerted residents to prepare for a possible repetition of tidal waves which caused damage Monday. Waves were produced by the shocks of earthquakes in Chile.

At Bolinas, Sausalito and San Rafael there were no reports of unusual tidal action yesterday afternoon or last night.

Chilean Asks Aid Through Kin In Marin

Mrs. Malena Armstrong, a visitor at the home of Mrs. Barbara Gifford at 8 Glen Drive, Sausalito, has recieved an appeal by telephone from her sister in Chile for "every help that is possible."

Mrs. Armstrong said her sister telephoned from Santiago Tuesday, and said the "destruction is unbelieveable" and "you can't imagine how ghastly it is."

The Chilean, Mrs. Arturo Alessandri, asked her sister to appeal to people to do what they can to start a drive to send supplies to the disaster area.

"The whole south of Chile is destroyed," Mrs. Alessandri told her sister. She said volcanos "have sprung up like mushrooms and are erupting all over the place."

"The tidal wave has been the worst part of it," Mrs. Alessandri said. "Many of the coastal towns and fishing villages have been completely disappeared."

U.N. Council Rejects Soviets' Resolution

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Security Council rejected by a one-sided vote today a Soviet attempt to brand the United States as an aggressor for sending spy planes over Russian territory.

Despite a vigorous last-minute attack on the United States, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko failed to win any Western or neutral support for his tough resolution.

HOW THEY VOTED

The vote was two in favor, seven against and two abstaining. Only Communist Poland joined the Soviet Union in voting for the proposal. Tunisia and Ceylon abstained.

Voting against were the United States, Britain, France, Argentina, Ecuador, Italy and Nationalist China.

Gromyko told newsmen later "we are going to raise this question in the General Assembly. Whether this will be at the regular session or at a special session, I do not wish to say at the moment."

Just before the vote, Gromyko and U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge had engaged in a new clash over the collapse of the summit conference and the whole field of espionage.

Lodge accused the Soviet Union of distorting U. S. policy and bringing the spy plane case before the U.N. in a deliberate attempt to renew the cold war.

DEVICE SHOWN

Lodge charged the Kremlin with maintaining a vast spy ring, and he dramatically displayed a listening device which he said the Soviet authorities had managed to plant in the office of U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson in Moscow.

Earlier Gromyko had blasted President Eisenhower's address to the nation as confirmation of "a dangerous policy." Gromyko declared the speech could only aggravate the situation.

Lodge denied that the United States had committed any aggression against the Soviet Union by its intelligence flights. He said, in fact, it would be impossible under the U. S. Constitution for the United States to commit aggression.

Then he asked: "Why is the Soviet Union, after sponsoring friendship and co-existence, suddenly beating the drums of the cold war? I do not know, but surely the peoples of all the world must be asking this question."

PLAN DENOUNCED

Gromyko bluntly rejected Eisenhower's bid for an international aerial surveillance system. He called it a scheme to spy on the Soviet Union. He also warned that any new flights over Soviet territory would be "duly repulsed."

Gromyko said:

"The statement of the President is not satisfactory. It does not change the situation. I would say in reality that it only aggravates the situation because it is the confirmation of the dangerous policy of the United States in regard to the Soviet Union."

In the council debate yesterday the Ceylonese delegate, Sir Claude Corea, had urged Gromyko not to push his resolution to a decision.

Corea asked Gromyko to accept Eisenhower's assurance at the summit conference that the flights had stopped. To insist on a condemnation, he said, would only "impair good will" between the two big powers.

At the same time Corea rejected the U. S. argument that reconnaissance flights over the Soviet Union were necessary to prevent surprise attack. He said this was no justification for violating another country's air space.

TUNISIAN SPEAKS

Mongi Slim of Tunisia deplored the mistrust that prompted the U-2 flight on May Day but said the resultant Soviet interruption of the summit conference was "still more serious."

Outside the council, Lodge told newsmen that Eisenhower's new, broadened "open skies" proposal for U.N.-supervised inspection flights to guard against surprise attack would not be put before the Security Council, but would be introduced in the General Assembly session opening September 20.

Lodge explained that "the Russians would only veto" the proposal in the council, the United States wants "calm, careful consideration" of the proposal.

Marin City Residents Complain They Can't Install Washers, TV

By BRUCE COLEMAN

All is not hunky dory in the new low-rent housing project at Marin City.

The grass is coming up, trees and shrubs are planted and the color schemes in the apartments are very fine — but you can't hook up your washing machine and television reception is practically nil.

Residents of Marin's beautifully designed $4,270,000 project moved in April 15—more than a month ago—and still are washing clothes in bathtubs and kitchen sinks or taking them to self-service laundries in Marin City and Sausalito.

Television is possible for a few with coil antennas, but for the most part there are no pictures at all since no aerials are allowed on the roofs and television cable, to be installed, is not functioning yet.

Nick Rossi, a pensioner who lives with his wife at 27 Drake Avenue, said he was told he couln't take his old-fashioned washer from the old housing so he traded it in for an automatic. "I paid $295 for the washer and it's been four weeks and I haven't been able to get it hooked up, he said. The Marin County Housing Authority won't let him install the washer.

"We use the bathtub," he said.. "But what's the use of buying a new washing machine when you have to wash in the bathtub?"

He said he had to buy a coil antenna "to get some pictures on television."

As far as everything else is concerned, he added, it's all right. It's wonderful.

Dorothy Hill, who lives at 209 Drake Avenue, said her family does the washing in the

FROM 70,000 FEET UP — This air view of a portion of the San Diego Naval Air Station was used by President Eisenhower yesterday in his radio-television address to illustrate the effectiveness of aerial photography as a means of surveiliance. The president said the photo was taken from a plane flying at an altitude of 70,000 feet. He pointed out the white lines on the parking lot, and noted that they are "just six inches wide." PRESIDENT ASKS SOVIETS TO RESUME PEACE DRIVE

Road To Reason Still Open, He Declares In Broadcast

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States bombarded the Soviet Union today with a broadcast appeal from President Eisenhower to forget the failure of the Paris summit conference and join in "business like dealings" for East-West peace.

"The path of reason and commonsense is still open if the Soviets will but use it," Eisenhower declared last night in a radio-television broadcast from the White House.

SEVEN LANGUAGES

Translations of the speech, carried throughout the world by the Voice of America, were being beamed to the Soviet Union today in 22 separate broadcasts in seven languages spoken in that area.

Eisenhower asserted his intention to seek improved relations with the Soviet Union "despite our recent disappointment" and said specifically that the United States will continue to take part in conference at Geneva on disarmament and on prohibition of nuclear weapons tests.

ON U-2 FLIGHTS

At the same time he made emphatically clear that — in spite of cancellation of U-2 spy flights—he intends to continue gathering intelligence information about the Soviet Union's military developments by all practical means.

Obviously referring to spy-in-the-sky satellites, he said "new techniques, other than aircraft, are constantly being developed" to do this.

But Eisenhower stressed that he would much prefer that the United Nations undertake the task of keeping watch on the military efforts of all the great powers.

He reaffirmed his intention to propose a new open skies plan to the U.N., and announced that the United States would supply "part of the aircraft and equipment required." Press Officer James C. Hagerty said this offer would include the high-flying U-2 jet planes used by the United States in aerial espionage of the Soviet Union for the past four years.

At this point in his speech Eisenhower dramatically turned away from his prepared text, as it was released in advance, and displayed a photograph of the naval station at San Diego.

Explaining that it was taken from an altitude of more than 70,000 feet—about 13 miles—he said that some of the lines shown in the picture were only six inches wide.

The photograph provides an example of "what could be accomplished through United Nations aerial surveillance," the president said. He did not mention the fact, but it also provided an example of the kind of detailed photographic information which the United States evidently collected with the U-2 photographic missions over Soviet territory.

Eisenhower went into some detail on the May 1 spy plane incident which Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev cited as a reason for breaking up the summit meeting.

He said Khrushchev knew of similar flights when the Soviet Premier visited this country last year and "he did not then see any reason to refuse to confer with American representatives."

Replying to critics who have said such flights should not have been made just before the summit meeting, Eisenhower said:

"As to the timing, the question was really whether to halt the program, and thus forego the gathering of important information that was essential and that was likely to be unavailable at a later date The decision was that the program should not be halted."

He did not specify what information was being sought at the time.

The president again defended aerial espionage as vital to the security of the United States and its allies because it provided information on Soviet military developments But he said that U-2 missions were only "one of many methods we have used to keep ourselves and the Free World abreast of major Soviet military developments."

Eisenhower said Khrushchev's action at Paris last week perhaps had "turned the clock back in some measure." But all that happened in Paris must not be written "in red ink," he said, for some of the things should be "written in black."

On the positive side he said that Khrushchev "did not go beyond invective" in denouncing the United States, in breaking up the summit meeting and in canceling Eisenhower's trip to the Soviet Union next month. What he seemed to be suggesting was that Khrushchev had not actually changed any basic Soviet policy.

MEETS WITH SOLONS

Ike Approves Probe Of Summit Collapse

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower said today Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev may have scuttled the summit conference under "pressure by the Stalinists and the Chinese" reds.

The president made the statement during a special breakfast for congressional leaders at which he threw his "wholehearted' support behind a Senate investigation of events leading up to the summit collapse.

In discussing possible pressure on Khrushchev, the president told Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee: "That is something we ought to think about."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Texas) and Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which starts its closed-door hearings tomorrow, both said the president gave his full support to the inquiry.

"The president said the course of the conduct of study (in Congress) met with his wholehearted approval and would receive his cooperation," Johnson said. "I think we all agreed that we are in this together and we will treat mistakes as errors, and the thing we're all interested in is American solidarity."

Russell said the president went beyond his speech last night when he spoke of the need for continued business-like negotiations with Russia and defended the U-2 flights over Russia as necessary to prevent surprise attack.

More than 20 bipartisan leaders of the House and Senate met the president, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Defense Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr.

The president first briefed the Republicans and Democrats on the Paris conference and then invited the members to ask questions of himself, Herter and Gates. During the questioning Fulbright outlined the course of his committee's inquiry into the pre-summit situation and it was in this exchange that Eisenhower gave the "go-ahead' from the executive viewpoint.

Speaker Sam Rayburn described the meeting as "just a general discussion" in which "he talked about a lot of things." Rayburn said, however, that no legislation was discussed and that the president did not repeat the plea made in his speech last night against cut in money for the foreign aid program.

Eisenhower's Address Jammed By Russians

LONDON (AP) — The live broadcast of President Eisenhower's report on the summit conference apparently did not get through to the Soviet people.

Washington headquarters of the Voice of America said the Soviets let the first 10 minutes of the speech get through, then jammed the last 15 minutes. But the U.S. Embassy in Moscow said the U.S. government radio was jammed all night.

Since Eisenhower's broadcast began at 3 a.m. Moscow time, it was doubtful that any Soviets would have been listening anyway.

There also was no report of the speech or comment on it in Moscow's morning papers. Moscow time is seven hours ahead of Washington's, and the president spoke long after the Soviet capital's papers had gone to press.

Associated Press correspondent Stanley Johnson reported from Moscow that newspapers in the Soviet capital might mention the speech in their editions tomorrow but any extensive quotation from it appeared unlikely.

Johnson pointed out that in reporting the current U.N. Security Council debate on the Soviet complaint against U.S. spy flights over Soviet territory, the Russian press confined its coverage of U.S Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge's speech to the statement that he defended the U.S. thesis.

Soviet News Agency Says Talk A Flop

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Eisenhower "did not succeed in making his case" last night in a television and radio report to the American people on the summit failure and the U-2 incident. Tass said today.

"Eisenhower sought to justify the evasions to which the American government resorted after the spy flight became known to the whole world," the official Soviet news agency said in a dispatch from Washington.

"He said the initial statement about the flight issued by the American government was a 'covering statement.'"

The story was the first report here on the Eisenhower talk.

MMWD Directors Approve Plans For New Office

After inspection of final plans for the proposed new administration building for the Marin Municipal Water District, members of the district board last night authorized the San Rafael architectural firm of Crawford and Banning to proceed with working drawings.

It is expected that the plans will be completed by the end of this year and that bids will be called for early next year, with construction on the Fifer property recently acquired in the Greenbrae area of Corte Madera to be completed by December, 1961.

The board heard reports of progress on the Nicasio Dam and authorized minor purchases.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Money matters look tough ahead, according to some figures compiled by the Christian church (Disciples of Christ). The statistics indicate local church expenses will increase 216.8 per cent in the next 20 years, while per capita personal income will have increased only 50.8 per cent.

U.S. Flying Aid To Chilean Quake Victims

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today began flying two complete Army field hospitals and 420 doctors, nurses and enlisted medical personnel to help Chile's earthquake victims.

Twenty-four big transport planes were loaded and started leaving Fort Bragg, N. C., and Andrews Air Force Base, Md., early this morning. The planes were from McGuire AFB, N. J., Charleston AFB, S. C., and Dover AFB, Del.

Large supplies of medicine, including anti-tetanus and anti-gangrene serum and blood plasma, were in the shipment.

THE FIRST WAVE

The Defense Department said 27 doctors and 62 nurses were in the first wave of planes. Enlisted medical personnel totaling 331 men also were going to staff the field hospitals.

The mercy airlift was the first major step in a western hemispheric program to aid the thousands of homeless and injured.

A State Department spokesman reported that two Air Force planes packed with hospital equipment, tents, medical supplies and blankets from the Panama Canal Zone left yesterday for Santiago, capital of Chile.

NUTRITION TEAM

The Defense Department also announced that a U. S. nutrition team which has been in Chile for the past two months will remain at its post to give what help it can. The team includes 11 doctors.

An Indianapolis pharmaceutical firm donated $10,000 worth of drugs, and said the products will be flown to Chile immediately.

Executive vicep resident F. M. Hadley of Eli Lilly and Co. said the drugs were "offered as an expression of sympathy and assistance to the people of Chile."

Help Rushed To 4,000 Stranded By Big Waves

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. military boats and helicopters rushed relief to 4,000 persons stranded on Yagaji Island off Okinawa today as the Far East cleaned up after the tidal waves exploded by the Chilean earthquakes.

Walloping waves washed away the lone bridge connecting Yagaji with the main island of Okinawa, and isolated residents were left short of food and without drinking water.

The Philippine News Service reported 16 dead in the wake of the tidal waves that battered the eastern Philippine coast Monday night and Tuesday.

It was the first report of deaths in the Philippines, where previously only property damage had been reported.

Japanese police estimated property damage there from the savage tides at 60 million dollars and listed 99 dead, 46 missing, 856 injured and 167,147 homeless.

Marin Supervisor Charges Campaign Misrepresentation

By DEEDEE ABRAMSON

More than 200 Tiburon Peninsula residents turned out last night to hear incumbent Supervisor Vera Schultz charge "deliberate misrepresentation in the current campaign because of the insertion of the current assessment re-evaluation into the campaign."

She added, "This is a disservice to every honest man."

J. Walter Blair, her opponent in the race for third district supervisor, charged "Our population has increased 19 per cent in four years and we are paying 100 per cent more taxes than we were paying five years ago."

He called the proposed Marin Civic Center a "Taj Mahal" and said, "I am incensed at its construction because it was turned down by the voters in a bond issue."

The meeting was characterized by vociferous clapping, and continual interruptions from the audience when members disagreed with Mrs. Schultz. Moderator William O. Weissich, district attorney, had to rap his gavel several times during the two-and-one-half-hour session to keep his opening promise that "The speakers are not here to be abused."

Many in the audience were self-styled "refugees from Tamalpais Valley.

Most of the questions centered around the emergency meeting of the board of supervisors called last Saturday at Mrs. Schultz's request to consider the Southern Marin reappraisals.

Blair charged "the meeting was purely political, and all at the cost of the taxpayers. The board of equalization said the assessor could do it this way . . . it is permissible . . . but he did not say he had to do it this way."

Blair went on: County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel was never asked if he wanted to do the whole county at once. Why should we bear this injustice for three years?"

Mrs. Schultz countered: "I called the meeting because this issue was put in the campaign by my opposition and has no business in this election. We had to clear up the inference that a supervisor has any authority to effect the policies of the assessor.

"The assessor is obligated to keep the assessments at their fair market value by the State Board of Equalization. It would cost a half a million dollars to assess the whole county at once."

Blair cited three ways in which he said the county budget could be cut:

1. "The county counsel's office is costing us $30,000 a year to operate. We can do it more efficiently than that."

2. The administrator's office cost $32,000 to operate the first year and now costs $113,000. "We were told by Mrs. Schultz that it would cost $20,000 a year.

3. "The Public Works Department is run in compeition with private business and we are paying the bills."

Mrs. Schultz quickly countered to No. 2 with: "I said that the maximum to be paid an administrator would be $20,000. The other is a misquote. The $113,000 is a misrepresentation because that figure includes the cost of all of the departments run by the administrator.

"The administrator has brought efficiency, control and accountability to county government so that we can still perform the functions and keep the tax rate down."

"Do you mean to eliminate the office of county counsel?" Blair was asked by Mrs. Fran Fraas of Belvedere. "Who would supply advice to the various special service districts in the county?"

Blair answered, "the county attorney can do it . . . he has done it before." District Attorney Weissich had no comment.

"Wh ycan five people judge what all the people say no to?" was directed to Mrs. Schultz by Mrs. Milton Romey of Belvedere, regarding the civic center.

Mrs. Schultz said the proposed bond issue was merely a method of financing the civic center. She cited money saved by construction of a civic center instead of expanding the present courthouse and "paying $1,100 per car for additional parking facilities."

"You have to spend money to make money . . . this is good business," she said. Cries of "We're not in business," filled the auditorium.

Mrs. Schultz went on, "It can be proved beyond dispute that the introduction of management into county government has produced real tax savings. There has been a revolution in the budget and the civic center is the finest bargain that the county has had available to it."

The only laughter of the evening came when Weissich inserted during Mrs. Schultz' discussion of where the county tax dollar went, "You pay my salary and I thank you."

NEW HOMES BUT NO WASHERS

Mrs. Charles Bailey starts the family washing in bathtub of home at 62 Cole Drive in the newly rebuilt section of Marin City, while 4-year-old Howell Pinson watches. Marin County Housing Authority forbids residents from connecting own washers, so the new development has as yet no washing machines. It also has no television reception, residents complain.

Throng Of Japanese In Anti-U.S. Demonstration

TOKYO (AP) — A hundred thousand Japanese besieged the Parliament Building until late last night, demonstrating against the new military alliance with the United States and imprisoning Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi inside the building.

It was the most massive of the demonstrations staged daily since the lower house of Parliament ratified the new U.S.-Japan mutual defense treaty last Wednesday.

Shouts of "Ike don't come!" and "Down with Prime Minister Kishi!" filled the air. The demonstration was organized by the Socialist party, Kishi's chief opposition in Parliament, and the leftist Sohyo Labor Federation.

WILD SCENE

In a setting lit by news photographers' flashes, police lanterns and flares, black-uniformed columns of the Radical Students' Federation Zengakuren snake-danced, screamed rhythmically and smashed into police lines guarding the building.

Speakers harangued the mob over loudspeakers.

Earlier demonstrators adopted a resolution accusing America of imperialism, calling on the U.S. Congress not to ratify the security treaty, and opposing President Eisenhower's trip to Japan.

He is scheduled to arrive June 19. The treaty become effective that day unless the upper house of Parliament ratifies it sooner.

BIGGEST PROTEST

This was the most massive protest against the security treaty since it was ratified. Japanese Socialist and Communist parties are trying to force dissolution of Parliament before the treaty takes effect, thus voiding it.

From Parliament, about 10,000 demonstrators surged down the street to the American Embassy, shouting and chanting rhythmically in a wild scene of swaying red banners and deafening noise. No effort was made to enter.

The protest was marked by other demonstrations across the nation and short strikes.

'NULLIFY TREATY'

The Socialists are demanding that Kishi resign, that Eisenhower cancel or postpone his visit next month and that the Diet be dissolved to nullify the treaty ratification before it automatically takes effect June 19.

Kishi has said he would not resign or dissolve parliament until the ratification is accomplished.

The Socialists contend continuance of American bases in Japan, provided for in the treaty, will involve the country in war if the United States gets in a fight in the Far East.

Spreading Re-appraisals Over 4 Years Seen As Violation Of Oath

A state official said today on KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" that County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel could legally spread South Marin's new appraisals gradually over a four-year period, but that "he would probably be violating his oath of office if he did."

This reply to an Independent-Journal editorial proposal of yesterday came just one minute before the end of the one-hour radio program, culmination of a lively question and answer period on the much-delayed current reappraisal period in Marin County.

The question as to whether the I-J proposal is practical was directed to Broemmel by a listener.

Broemmel promptly passed the ball to Ronald B. Welch, assistant executive secretary of the California Board of Equalization, as "objective . . . a neutral party."

Welch said: "This could be done and I am certain that doing it would not make the roll illegal, as I am certain that the present program is legal.

"But he would probably be violating his oath of office if he did.

"I don't see any great advantage in stringing this out over a four-year period. It would just be an installment plan and would work out about the same. However, this subject is too big for just one minute."

Later Welch looked up the text of the assessor's oath, which he described as so tough he wouldn't want to take it himself.

The pertinent section places on the assessor the duty to see that property has been assessed according to the best of my judgment, information and belief, at its values as required by law."

Peter N. Behr, Mill Valley city councilman, and Mrs. Evelyn McDougall of Mill Valley, director of the Marin County Taxpayers Assn., vigorously criticized the current Broemmel plan endorsed by the equalization board, and asserted that it gambled against the future.

This point was made after Broemmel had said:

"It was I who selected the area to be reappraised, despite charges to the contrary. At no time did I consider going into another area other than according to the priorities listed. Actually I have gone into both Districts 3 and 2 . . . These things iron themselves out."

"They do so on an assumption on quicksand," put in Behr. "It is like an attempt to predict the stock market over the next four years."

"We are not guaranteed that we will not have a depression," added Mrs. McDougall. "What happens then? It can happen."

Behr said "the answer is obvious."

Broemmel and Welch cited the assessor's legal obligations and the possibility that there might be state overall increase in valuations for the full county if local revaluations lag too much.

Girl Slightly Hurt When Hit By Car

A 5-year-old San Rafael girl was hit by a car on Pacheco Street near Lincoln Avenue last night but escaped with scratches and bruises.

Carol Ann Silva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Silva of 1344 Lincoln Avenue, suffered bruises on her face, hands and knees but no fractured bones.

Driver of the car, Wilbur James Reine of 1015 Bush Street, Santa Rosa, told police he was headed west on Pacheco Street about 8 p.m. when he saw three youngsters playing near the curb. He slowed down, when suddenly he felt a slight bump. Reine said the girl was lying on the street. She "seemed to have come from nowhere," he said.

Car Misses Turn; Driver Injured

"I lost it, and thought I was a goner" was how A/3C Barbara Elaine Richardson, 26, of the 76th Base Hospital, Hamilton Air Force Base, described her driving experience last night as she came unexpectedly on the 30-mile-an-hour curves of the San Quentin Overpass south of San Rafael.

Not the first to be surprised into accident at this point, Miss Richardson first hit the right curb, then bounced to the left curb, then spun and crashed her new 1960 model compact car.

She was treated at San Rafael General Hospital at 7:15 p.m. for a cut forehead and nose and bruises on knees, right hand and chest. The California Highway Patrol cited her for speeding.

Progress In Speech Therapy Program Told

A part-time speech therapist hired by the trustees of the Dixie School District last year has made considerable progress in working with hard-of-hearing and speech-defect children, the board was told at a regular meeting last night.

The teacher, Mrs. Elaine Koel of Terra Linda, and Supt. Dennie Willis told the board that, of six hard-of-hearing youngsters, two, after both class and medical treatment, need no further classroom attention for defects and can return to normal classes.

Two others will need only hearing aids and further lip reading work. A fifth has moved from the district, and one child will need extensive further treatment.

Of a class of 53 pupils with a multiple of speech defects, including lisping and stuttering, 13 have been corrected and will be able to take normal classroom work by September or October, and 10 others already have "graduated" from the class.

The board hired 12 teachers for summer schools, and set up a summer workshop for which 25 of the district's 68 teachers have volunteered. The three-week session will be under direction of Henry Smith, principal of Vallecito School, and Raymond Riley, principal of Santa Marguerita School.

The teachers will receive three units of district credit for attending the session which can be used in salary scale advancement. They will set up guides for improving the science and math programs, discuss development of reading and parent-teaching conferences.

The board also:

1. Accepted the resignation of Robin Briscoe, part-time curriculum coordinator, who will be serving ful-time in the San Jose district. It has not been decided whether there will be a replacement.

2. Hired Mrs. Sharon Christen of Vallejo to teach second grade.

3. Signed a contract with the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for non-interest loans of $17,000 to plan a 24-classroom building in Terra Linda and $2,400 to plan a multi-use room at the Mary Silveira School in Marinwood.

4. Heard endorsements of the June 7 tax-increasing election from the Terra Linda Community Service District Board of Directors, the Dixie School District Coordinating Council, the Marinwood Home and School Club and the Terra Linda Parents Group. An increase of 62 cents over the basic rate of $1.83 is being asked. Present override tax is 65 cents.

5. Adopted a 1960-61 calendar of 181 school days to start Sept. 6, with the term closing June 16, 1961.

6. Heard a report from Willis that a faulty beam in the multi-use room at Hoffman School is to be repaired.

Pilot Tells How Red Jets Forced His Plane Down

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—The pilot of a U. S. Air Force transport forced down in East Germany last Friday said today that six Soviet MIG jets fighters fire machine-gun bursts to make him land.

Capt. James Lundy of Findlay, Ohio, who was grounded by the Air Force after his return yesterday, told a news conference:

"There was no indication that we were off course until the MIGs appeared. There was no doubt in my mind but that they wanted us to land."

He added that the plane was not hit by the Soviet machine-gun fire.

The battered old Air Force C-47 with eight men and a woman aboard strayed 22 miles into East Germany while on a flight from Copenhagen to Hamburg. The Soviets released the plane and the nine Americans Tuesday, but bad weather prevented their flying to the West until last night.

The Air Force, in grounding the 41-year-old pilot for investigation, said he "clearly had violated pertinent flying directions."

Lundy blamed a false wind report for his getting off course and said that he realized, when the Soviet fighters appeared, that he had strayed over Communist territory.

The pilot said weathermen in Copenhagen reported an easterly wind but it actually was blowing from the west. Lundy said the weather was good with visibility of five miles as his twin-engine plane flew over the north German coast. He added there were some thunderstorms but they presented no problem.

Of his grounding, Lundy said he expected the investigation—"It is routine in the Air Force on occasions like this." He said, however, that as far as he knew, he did not violate any flying procedures.

Lundy said he landed his plane in a "sod" field about 15 miles north of the East German town of Grevesmuehlen.

'NOT A FARMER'

"I don't know whether it was a pasture or a cropped field," he continued. "I'm afraid I'm not a farmer."

As soon as the plane bumped over the field and came to a stop, Lundy went on, the five crewmen and four passengers jumped out and waited in an adjoining field for about five minutes until East German police arrived.

The East Germans searched all except the woman passenger, Barbara A. McCash of Atlanta, Ga., who was on a leave trip with her doctor husband, Capt. Paul K. McCash.

QUESTIONED ALONE

Some time later, Lundy, as the pilot, was taken by Soviet troops and was questioned alone for about four hours. The other Americans were taken to Soviet headquarters at Grevesmuehlen a short time later.

"Our treatment was good. The food was good. The Russians helped us out in any way they could for our comfort," Lundy said.

BACK TO FREEDOM — American airmen and a woman who spent five days in East Germany after their C-47 plane strayed across the border and was forced down, posed after their arrival at Wiesbaden, West Germany, yesterday. Tightening Of Welfare Laws Urged To Halt Soaring Costs

California needs tighter laws to cut down on the mounting cost of welfare aid.

This was the concensus reached at a meeting of the District Attorneys' Family Support Council last week in Palo Alto, according to William H. Bemiss, investigator for the Marin County district attorney.

Bemiss attended the convention and summarized his observations in a written report to the Marin County Board of Supervisors this week.

"The mounting cost of welfare in California and the related problems of law enforcement, illegitimacy, fraud, and the many loopholes have made California a virtual paradise for thousands of families," Bemiss told the supervisors.

No one at the conference blamed welfare workers, knowing their policies are set and they must do "as the book says," Bemiss reported.

A growing problem is the influx from other states of persons looking for the "California gravy train," wrote Bemiss. "In our county we have a number of cases of women coming from other states, particularly southern states where the welfare grants are meager. Somehow or other they manage to get by for one year, at which time they become eligible for California public assistance.

In most cases the mother arrives at the welfare department one day after the year is up, applying for aid to needy children. They have it all figured out, and, once comfortably settled with the regular monthly check, they realize they never had it so good."

Ironically, another problem is created by the mother who makes an honest effort to provide for her family, Bemiss reported. He gave this example:

The family is in debt, and the father disappears. One mother just gives up and gets on welfare. Another mother finds a job and goes to work. "The next thing she knows, her wages are garnished (attached). If she continues working, she will have to exist with her children on an insufficient budget, since the welfare department is not empowered to sup[illegible] money taken out of her check in most cases. What incentive is there for her to work?

She almost has to quit her job and accept full aid to needy children funds, or her children will be deprieved of the necessitites of life."

Some laws "literally foster illegitimate children and cost the taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars annually," Bemis declared.

Increase Tithe

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP)—Seventh-Day Adventists, who customarily tithe at least 10 per cent of their income, increased their contributions to the church an extra 5 per cent in the first six months of 1958. Total giving for the period was $18,092,398, compared with $17,203,567 in the first six months of 1957.

Statue Fund Campaign Kick-Off Set July 14

A "Dollars for Drake" kick-off dinner prior to a 1960-61 campaign to raise $15,000 for a statue of Sir Francis Drake will be held July 14 at the Wye Club in San Rafael.

Cost of the dinner will be $10 a plate, with proceeds providing an initial fund for the campaign. The fall and winter campaign will be conducted under sponsorship of the Marin Visitor Bureau of the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce.

According to Mrs. Esther Dearth, bureau chairman, the dinner may also feature an internationally known personality who will speak about the famous English sea rover and the statue project.

Recently the Marin County Board of Supervisors, on a recommendation from the county parks and recreation commission, approved the placing of the large bronze historical marker on the shore of Drake's Bay on Point Reyes Peninsula.

"Because this statue will mark one of Marin's historical highlights and will be of great interest to many visitors," said Dearth, "we plan to ask many organizations, firms and schools to do their part to help raise the money, and educate Marinites on the value of building up the important visitor and convention business."

"This Dollars for Drake campaign," added motel owner Shaun Wiltshire, "is only one of our major projects. We selected this one first because of its widespread importance to Marin."

Mrs. Ellen Martinelli is in charge of arrangements for the July 14 dinner, and Mrs. Eve Young is general chairman of the upcoming campaign.

Last night's meeting of the bureau was attended by 15 members at the Northwestern Savings and Loan Building in San Rafael. The group watched a showing of a color film about Point Reyes, "An Island in Time."

Adlai Named Convention Alternate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI)—Adlai Stevenson has been named a delegate-at-large to the national Democratic convention at Los Angeles in July.

Stevenson, a two-time Democratic presidential nominee and oft-mentioned candidate for a third spot at the White House, has said he does not plan to attend the convention.

Stevenson was named to the Illinois delegation at the Democratic state convention yesterday.

An alternate would take the former Illinois governor's seat in Los Angeles if he refuses to attend.

Protestant Celibacy

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Dr. James T. Cleland, dean of the Duke University chapel, has suggested that Protestant churches think seriously about encouraging an unmarried clergy.

One of the arguments used in favor of Protestant celibacy is that married ministers often are faced with the choice of neglecting either their homes or their jobs.

Rockefeller Leaves The Door Open, But Draft By GOP Held Unlikely

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was offering himself as a reserve candidate for the Republican nomination for president today, but there was discernible sign he would be called to active duty.

Rockefeller said yesterday he would accept a draft to run as the GOP candidate for president, a development possible only if the party rejects Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

But Rockefeller agreed with the almost unanimous view that Nixon's nomination "obviously is to be expected."

Nixon remains the party's only declared candidate. He has more than enough votes, by unofficial count, to win nomination on the first ballot.

Nixon also has the backing of President Eisenhower.

Rockefeller's current assets as a contender for the nomination consists of the assumption he would get all 96 of New York's convention votes plus one Arkansas vote pledged to him and a New Jersey vote promised if a floor fight developed.

A majority of 666 of the 1,331 delegates will be needed for nomination at the convention which opens July 25 in Chicago.

Basically, Rockefeller's entire strategy is keyed to the possibility, however remote, that something might happen between now and convention time to turn the party away from Nixon.

"These are very fast changing times," Rockefeller told a news conference after explaining his position to a meeting of Republican county chairman and the state party's executive committee.

Rockefeller sees himself as a candidate the party could turn to if Nixon were forced to drop out of the running. The governor will not speculate on what he considers possible developments that could affect Nixon's position. And, the governor said, he will neither encourage nor authorize any campaigning in his behalf.

The state's 96-vote delegation to the convention will back the governor's long-shot approach. It will go to the convention uncommitted, Republican leaders decided after hearing the governor.

Rockefeller vetoed a proposal that he allow himself to be nominated as a favorite son. He urged instead the "wait-and-see" approach.

There is a good chance Rockefeller himself will lead the delegation, despite his announcement he would not attend for fear he would be drafted to run for vice president.

He told the GOP leaders he would go to the convention if he had firm promises from GOP national leaders that he would not be put under pressure to accept the vice-presidential nomination.

The possibility Rockefeller might go to the convention drew a kind word from the Republican national chairman, Thurston B. Morton.

The Kentucky senator said that "Republicans in all states would like to see Rockefeller at the convention." On the nination, he said, delegates will have "full freedom of choice."

Nixon had no direct comment. An aide noted confidently that the vice president is on record as willing to welcome competition for the nomination.

Supreme Court Ruling Clouds Finch Retrial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A judge said he would call the Finch-Tregoff murder case today, but nobody—the judge included—appeared to know exactly what would happen after that.

The situation was left up in the air yesterday after the California Supreme Court ruled that Carole Tregoff is entitled to a hearing on her request for a new judge at her second murder trial.

It was not clear whether the trial should proceed however, pending the Supreme Court hearing, scheduled for June 13.

Superior Judge LeRoy Dawson, who was assigned the trial, said: "I'm going to call the case and see what kind of motions are presented."

Miss Tregoff, 23, and her lover, 43-year-old Dr. R. Bernard Finch, are accused of murder in the shooting of the doctor's wife Barbara last July 18.

Miss Tregoff's attorneys have asked that Dawson be disqualified under a law permitting "each party in an action" one challenge of a judge. Finch's attorneys challenged one judge in the first trial, which ended with the jury deadlocked.

Secret Meet Slated By College Board

College of Marin trustees will go into secret session tonight to consider appointment of instructors in mathematics, music and life science departments for the coming school year.

During the open session of the trustees' regular meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. in Room 1, Harlan Hall, the board will hear reports on the status of the college library and the adult education board. County Counsel Leland M. Jordan will also report to the board on the legal aspects of tenure for part-time teachers.

The library report by head librarian Charles Masten will answer a questionnaire prepared by president Ward H. Austin and Trustee Robert E. Oliver regarding library personnel and equipment needs.

Surprise Witness Appears

The defense came up a surprise witness today in the drunken driving case involving a motor scooter rider who drank about four stingers before his scooter went out of control on the Sausalito lateral last Aug. 23.

Attorney Arthur Andreas, defending Joseph E. Foley, 31-year-old San Francisco engineer, called an expert from University of California to testify on the absorption of alcohol in the human body. Dr. Thomas N. Burbridge, assistant professor of pharmacology at the university, testified that his studies show Foley would have had a blood alcohol content of between .075 and .120 at the time of the midnight accident. This would be below what courts normally consider the borderline for intoxication

Dr. Burbridge's testimony conflicts with evidence presented by prosecution witness Dr. John Manwaring. Manwaring, called to the stand yesterday by Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold F. Wolters, said Foley would have had an alcoholic content well over the borderline at the time of the mishap.

Foley's blood alcohol content, tested at 1 a.m., showed .184. Foley said he drank about four stingers between 11 p.m. and midnight, then headed for home on his scooter. Andreas argues that alcohol absorption had not yet reached the stage of intoxication at midnight.

The jury, sitting in the court of Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court, is expected to get the case by this evening.

Mean Thief

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Folks around Laramie have their own idea as to who is the world's meanest man.

A 15-year-old boy who had polio when he was 8 and spent much of the last seven years in hospitals for surgery and treatment went on his first outing and hunting trip with his father.

His paralysis allowed him use of only one arm, but he got his limit of three birds and put them int he family car.

Another hunter promptly stole them.

DAMAGED CARRIER — The 60,000-ton aircraft carrier Saratoga's left side was damaged extensively in the collision yesterday morning with the West German merchant ship Bernd Leonhardt off the Virginia coast. No one was hurt. An inquiry to fix the cause of the mishap is under way.

THE OTHER SHIP—The damaged German freighter Bernd Leonhardt steams slowly up Chesapeake Bay toward Baltimore, bearing the scars of her collision yesterday with the big aircraft carrier Saratoga. The 10,800-ton ship lost most of her superstructure and mast and had her port side dented in.

Serpents In Suburbia; Natives Take Up Arms

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A wave of herpetophobia is spreading today in some Los Angeles suburbs, but the citizens are not taking it lying down.

Herpetophobia, in plain words, is fear of reptiles. Nearly a score of rattlesnakes have been killed in the past two weeks in the San Fernando Valley.

The mothers of Sherman Oaks are up in arms. They have enlisted the services of a snake expert, Ray Folsom, who runs the Hermosa Beach reptile farm.

Folsom will lead a group of volunteers Sunday on a big snake hunt. They'll be armed with rakes, hoes, barrel staves and anything else they can lay their hands on.

Instigator of the all-out Sherman Oaks war on the rattlers is Mrs. John A. Baumann whose very home was invaded last week by one of the slithering reptiles.

Mrs. Baumann called neighboring mothers to the colors and a preliminary meeting was held at her home to map reprisals. It was agreed to get Folsom to lead the attack.

Tomorrow Mrs. Baumann will hold an open house again and all persons interested in battling the rattlers will sign up. Minors will be barred unless they have written permission from parents.

"We wouldn't mind having a Boy Scout troop or something like that," said Mrs. Baumann.

She said she was told that the invasion of snakes is due to construction projects in the area.

"They're grading the hills around here for new homes," she explained, "and the snakes are being run out."

"If the weather warms up, we should get most of them," said chief snake hunter Folsom. Rattlers like to get out in the sun, he explained.

Tea Slated At Drake High School

The annual senior girls, mothers and women teachers tea at Sir Francis Drake High School will be held June 4 at 1:30 p.m. on the lawn near the library.

Mrs. Harriett Crabb, dean of girls, will be commentator.

Marin To Get $679,200 In Highway Tax

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Marin County will receive an estimated $679,200 in highway users tax funds during the 1960-61 fiscal year, State Controller Alan Cranston reported today.

The 58 counties will receive a record-breaking total of about $88,040,200, he said. This will be an increase of $5,754,000 over the total which Cranston's office has estimated would be distributed to counties during the present fiscal year, which ends June 30.

Cranston said county boards of supervisors are notified of the estimated revenues for 1960-61 so they can gear their budgets to the anticipated income.

Future Of 'Cats' To Be Decided By Larkspur Unit

Larkspur's controversial "cats" were assured of a home until at least June 7 when the planning commission Tuesday night asked City Atty. Samuel W. Gardiner for an opinion on what constitutes a "storage garage."

The cats in question belong to contractor P. H. Vincilione and are of the breed that dig and move earth. They are parked on a lot on Magnolia Avenue and have long been the object of neighbors' wrath as unsightly additions to the neighborhood.

Through his attorney, Wallace S. Myers, Vincilione maintained that his property is a "storage garage" and that it was perfectly legal to keep the equipment there under the business zoning law.

The commission will decide on the future of the cats at its June 7 meeting after hearing from its counsel.

DAMAGE EXTENSIVE

Probe Into Ship Collision Begins

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A Navy Board of Inquiry had before it today the question of why the mighty aircraft carrier Saratoga and a West German ore ship collided in clear weather off the Virginia coast early yesterday.

There were no injuries or casualties among the 35-man crew of the merchantman, the Bernd Leonhardt, or the 2,400 men and 160 officers on the Saratoga. The left sides of both vessels were damaged extensively.

The 60,000-ton carrier, one of the world's largest, was due to enter the Norfolk Navy shipyard today for repairs estimated to take two weeks. A survey team declined to give a dollar estimate of the damage.

Naval spokesmen said there was no immediate explanation of the collision.

Frat Discrimination

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Presidents of 55 fraternities at Ohio State University are backing a move to erase discriminatory clauses from fraternity constitutions. Clauses in about 10 per cent of the national constitutions represented forbid membership to certain races and religions.

"The fraternities have evidenced by thep assing of the resolution their good faith for a solution to this problem," said George Caronis, assistant dean of men.

Pharmacists Seat New President

FRESNO (UPI)—The California Pharmaceutical Assn. installed Nat Lippman, a Huntington Parks druggist, as president last night succeeding J. Martin Winton of Fresno.

Lippman urged a statewide program to point out the pitfalls of socialized medicine, problems of increased operation costs, and deterioration of professional ethics. He said California must not by reciprocal agreement let down the bars to unqualified pharmacists who come to the state to practice after passing less stringent tests in other states.

Rivals For Congressional Seat Square Off For Another Fight

Two contestants who have battled before have begun light sparring in the fight to represent Marin and six other First District counties in the U. S. House of Representatives.

Neither incumbent Clement W. Miller (Democrat) nor aspirant Fred G. Dupuis (Republican) is much concerned about the outcome of the June 7 primaries. Neither is opposed in his own party. And neither figures he could win the opposition party nomination with a write-in vote.

They contested before in the 1953 primary and general election, with Miller winning the congressional seat by slightly more than 18,000 votes. Miller received just under 55 per cent of the total vote.

Dupuis opened his 1960 campaign about a week ago. Miller flies from Washington to the West Coast today to hit the campaign trail, starting with a dinner honoring him tonight at Bermuda Palms in San Rafael.

Here are brief sketches of the two candidates, both of whom are from Marin County

CLEMENT W. MILLER, 43, of Corte Madera, has changed the emphasis of his campaign this year. In a speech to the Marin Democratic Assembly last month, he announced what he called "a change of attitude on my part."

Although he will continue the direction of his programs for "housing, slums, regional planning, parks, playground, lumber, woods, mills, conservation, wilderness, roads, lakes, fish, air, water harbors," this is not enough, he declared.

"Everyone must speak up," he declared on the international issues. He proposes:

1. A moratorium on testing of atomic weapons.

2. A pull-back in Europe. "The Allies pull back. The Russians do likewise. Berlin is a firecracker that must be doused by evacuation on both sides."

3. The Middle East must be made a neutral territory.

4. Diplomatic channels must be sought with Red China.

In his drive toward such goals, he was one of the first signers of a statement by members of Congress asking eight questions of President Eisenhower regarding the collapse of the summit meeting and the U-2 spy plane incident. Miller charged the administration is "trying to throw a smothering blanket of silence over the country in the name of 'unity'."

In Congress he has offered resolutions calling for the test moratorium and opposing sending nuclear weapons to foreign countries, and a bill calling for an agency of the federal government to be charged with research on atomic weapon control.

What he has called "a major collateral" of the campaign this year is "to furnish our youth with the material goals which will lift them out of themselves, and give them something to fight for besides hi-fi and tail fins."

It is for this purpose, he says, that he is proposing youth conservation camps to rehabilitate the national forests and help relieve crowded school conditions.

Miller has taken positive stands on such issues as the Point Reyes National Seashore Area, which he introduced a bill to create; Eel River water, which he proposes as a federally-developed water source for both northern and southern California; flood control surveys for all Marin County streams flowing into Richardson Bay; a strong civil rights bill; large federal housing and redevelopment spending; the depressed areas bill, (he was chairman of a task force which helped push it to passage only to see the President veto it); a family farm income act which he introduced for balancing farm supply with demand at a fair price; natural wilderness preservation, and many other issues.

FRED G. DUPUIS, 44, of Tiburon, in his campaign kickoff speech called the most important job of a congressman "to work to assure and protect the economic health and prosperity of his district, its growth and long-range future."

But it has been quite evident from the campaigning he has done so far that, with Miller running on his record, Dupuis will run against Miller's record.

CLEMENT W. MILLER
Incumbent Democrat

FRED G. DUPUIS
Republican challenger

Dupuis says the taxpayers and residents of the district are mostly concerned with (1) the inflationary spiral "which erodes away their earnings and savings," and (2) the long-range prospects for the prosperity of the agriculture and industries of the district.

Dupuis charges that Miller, whom he dubs "Spending Clem," "has aligned himself with the left-wing spenders" against all efforts to control inflation and balance the budget.

He charges that Miller is more interested in "handing out federal doles to depressed areas" than in preventing his own district from becoming depressed.

The incumbent has actually harmed the cattle, sheep and poultry men of the district by voting for rigid price supports on so-called basic crops, including feed grains which make district farmers' costs unnecessarily high, Dupuis claims.

"A congressman in the First District, regardless of political party, ought to be working for reduction and eventual elimination of the unworkable tax subsidies that have caused the mountainous surpluses of basic crops," said Dupuis.

He also lashed out at Miller for his support of public power and "massive" federal aid to education, which Dupuis declared is not aid but a hardship on California taxpayers who must send more money to Washington than their schools will get back.

Dupuis struck hard at Miller's international stand, including the weapons moratorium, pullback in Europe, Middle East neutrality and diplomatic negotiations with Red China. He said he is "appalled" to find that "there are still a minority of fuzzy thinkers in Congress who seem simply unable to grasp the meaning of the Soviet threat to our existence."

The candidate, who was a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent for 13 years, declared that "the political course advocated by my opponent—a course which can lead only to appeasement—means eventual disaster."

He maintains that the strongest deterrent to war is a strong defense.

Moscow Gives Big Welcome To Van Cliburn

MOSCOW (UPI)—Curly-haired Van Cliburn arrived today for a concert tour of the Soviet Union and was greeted by 200 orderly but noisy teen-agers and a sprinkling of elderly women who tossed flowers at him.

"I'm too overcome with emotion to express myself," the young American pianist said as he stood there catching the red and white flowers in the air while smiling and waving to his fans.

The reception was unique in the Soviet Union where celebrities are rarely received with such furor. Cliburn burst into world fame as a concert pianist when he won the 1958 Tchaikovsky Festival in Moscow.

This was his first return trip. The warmth of the greeting gave no indication of any Russian concern over U-2 incidents and relations with the U.S.

Tam High Choir Plans June Concert

Excerpts from the musicals "West Side Story," and 'The Tender Land," and three movements of Ernest Bloch's "Sacred Service" will be presented at the Tamalpais High School choir concert at 8 p.m. June 2 in Ruby Scott Auditorium at the school.

"West Side Story," written by Leonard Bernstein, contains a fight between two New York gangs of juvenile delinquents, the Jets and the Sharks. "The Tender Land," is a folk opera by Aaron Copland. The first three movements of "Sacred Service" will conclude the program.

Each of the three settings will have a different color scheme, with lights and basic stage properties creating the colors.

Robert Greenwood will direct the concert, which winds up the choir's activities for the school year except for an appearance at the June 19 graduation exercises.

Enrollment High In Adult School

Enrollment in the Tamalpais District's adult evening school increased in 1959-60 by more than 500 students, Principal Harry G. Russell reported today.

A total of 1,750 students attended evening school classes on the Tamalpais campus in Mill Valley and the Sir Francis Drake campus in San Anselmo. Last year the total enrollment was 1,217.

"Some of the students," Russell said in a report to Supt. Chester G. Carlisle, "have been enrolled to complete high school courses or to increase skills in trades and professions. Many housewives are improving their homes by working in their crafts, on draperies, or in rug braiding classes."

Start your vacation this year knowing that when you return all your valuables will be safe and sound.

Tools, hose pipes, lawnmowers, etc., have to be put away; outdoor furniture checked; windows and doors, of course, should be locked. There are many chores before vacation starts. And it's a mighty careful person who doesn't forget something.

Enrollment In Tam Summer School High

Summer school enrollment in Tamalpais Union High School District is expected to reach a record of more than 1,500 students, Principal Harry G. Russell announced today.

In a report to Supt. Chester G. Carlisle, the summer school principal said he had received 1,454 enrollment cards to date and more are expected before classes began at 8 a.m. June 22. Last year's total enrollment was 1,389.

The half-day sessions, to be concluded July 22, are to be held each week day at Tamalpais, Sir Francis Drake and Redwood High Schools. Campus deans are Cyril Beattie at Tamalpais, Verle Sorgen at Drake and Merrill Convis at Redwood.

Largest enrollment at all three schools is in "Problems of American Democracy," a state-required course for seniors. Demand is also high, Russell reported, for classes in typing and "every available typewriter in the district will be in use this summer."

Carlisle said school canteens will not be operated during the summer sessions.

There are 2,000 volcanoes on the South American Galapagos Islands off the coast of Ecuador. Most of them are inactive.

Long Arm Of Law Plucks Man From Bottom Of Sea

LONG BEACH (UPI) — The long arm of the law reached right to the bottom of the Pacific yesterday to get its man.

John Richard Merit, 28, on the FBI's "most wanted" list since admittedly robbing $9,000 from an Atlanta, Ga., bank April 10, was diving in 50 feet of water when a police boat chugged up alongside the diving barge.

Police ordered the crew to haul up Merit from the bottom of the harbor about a half-mile offshore and placed him under arrest when he surfaced.

"Oh, that's fine," he said when confronted by police.

Detective Inspector Creighton Wiggins said Merit admitted robbing the bank and using $600 of the loot to enroll in a deep sea diving course here. A .38-caliber automatic was found in Merit's expensive car and two other guns in his hotel room, said Wiggins. A suitcase full of money also was found in his room, said Wiggins.

Police said they were led to Merit by a tipster.

HERE'S PLACE TO GET AWAY FROM IT ALL

MENTONE, Tex. (AP) — If you're looking for a place where you can really get away from it all try Loving County in West Texas.

Preliminary census figures show the county has a population of 226, one less than a decade ago.

In 1950 it had the least population of any county in the United States. It has 647 square miles of area and nine farms with an average area of 30,929 acres each.

Alaskan Village Threatened By Raging Forest Fire

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A forest fire raging in the midst of a sizzling heat wave threatened last night to destroy a village just above the Arctic Circle.

The blaze was stopped a mere half a mile from Fort Yukon by more than 100 fire fighters, including all able-bodied men in the Indian village of 600.

Fred Varney, fire control officer for the Bureau of Land Management at Fort Yukon, said the village was no longer in danger but the fire was still not controlled.

The mercury rose to 89 degrees in Fairbanks yesterday for the second straight day, continuing a nine-day heat wave unparalleled for this time of year.

Varney said the fire was apparently man-caused in the tinder-dry forest. It broke out two days ago and spread through more than 3,500 acres of trees and brush.

Fort Yukon is about 125 miles northeast of Fairbanks on the Yukon River.

Nevada became a state in 1864.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

By HARRY CRAFT

Marin's Not The Only Place Where Taxes Are On The Rise

What is going on in Marin County is general throughout California. That was the thought expressed by Carroll Snyker, executive vice president and manager of Marin Development Foundation, in an address about the local tax situation before the Marin County Real Estate Board meeting Tuesday morning at King Cotton restaurant.

"The population increase brings about a natural increase in taxes," he said.

Snyker added that the gradual addition of commerce and industry will afford some relief, particularly through new ventures which draw their personnel from the existing population. He pointed out that many housewives and commuters already living in Marin would work here if they had the opportunity to do so.

Commenting on the effort to attract more industry to Marin, Snyker said that this program has been handicapped by the lack of suitable property sites available at competitive prices. Also, he added, there is reluctance among developers to grade or fill low cost areas unless they can realize a return on their investment within three years.

PERHAPS bearing out Snyker's feelings on taxes, comes now a report from Paul R. Leake of the State Board of Equalization announcing that the average tax rate in California on all property, tangible and intangible, has been climbing steadily over the past 10 years to a new high of $6.44 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Average tax rate is computed by adding all levies on property in California and dividing this sum by the total assessed value of tangible property and solvent credits, which are the only intangible property taxed in the state. A low rate of 10 cents per $100 on solvent credits makes the average 82 cents lower than the $7.26 prevalent this year on tangibles.

TRANSACTIONS subject to California sales and use taxes rose to an unprecedented $5,300,000,000 for the first quarter of this year. This did not include Easter shopping which occurred in April.

Leake predicts that if the same growth in retail trade is sustained throughout the year 1960 taxable sales will aggregate 25 billion dollars. At 4 per cent, this is one billion dollars revenue for state and local governments.

SIGNIFICANT in the population increase of Marin County is Pacific Gas and Electric Co.'s report on domestic electricity users. On Jan. 1, 1950, they numbered 24,520. On the same day 10 years later the figure was 41,392.

A NEW BRANCH office has been opened by realtor Dunya Chernenko at 4178 Redwood Highway, San Rafael, next to the Marin Professional Center at Terra Linda. It will be staffed by Jim Murphy of Mill Valley and Earl Larsen of Novato.

Chernenko Realty will still maintain its office on Shoreline Highway, Mill Valley.

Biggest Elevator

ELIZABETH, N. Y. (AP)—The world's largest elevator is being used between here and Staten Island, N.Y.—to raise and lower a draw bridge.

When the 558-foot-long Arthur Kill Bridge opened recently it became the longest vertical-lift draw bridge in the world.

When a ship wants to pass underneath, the elevator lifts the entire bridge on two casements.

The bridge, owned by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, can lift 65 70-ton coal cars at one time.

Savings-Loan Assns. Honor 7 Students

Seven Marin high school seniors were honored today as outstanding student award winners in a program co-sponsored by the county's savings and loan associations and the California Savings and Loan League.

The students were guests of honor at a recognition luncheon at Bob's of Marin in Corte Madera, attended by high school principals, faculty representatives, school administrators, parents and savings and loan association executives.

Winners named were Blake Rodgers, Marin Catholic High School; Thomas Joseph Schulz, San Rafael High School; Sandra Frances Berke, Sir Francis Drake High School; Genevieve Maestri, Tomales High School; Marilyn Alice White, Tamalpais High School; Sandra Boyer, Redwood High School and Suzanne Swan, Novato High School.

Each received a check for $100 and a bronze medallion.

The luncheon was presided over by Fred F. Enemark, chairman of the Marin savings and loan school relations committee, who introduced the principal speaker, Franklin Hardinge Jr., vice-president of the California Savings and Loan League.

Sponsoring associations of the program here are Marin County Savings and Loan Assn. and Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn. of San Rafael and Ross Valley Savings and Loan Assn. of San Anselmo.

The $40,000 outstanding student award program was initiated two years ago by the California league and the California savings and loan business. Principals of senior high schools are asked to select outstanding students for the cash award and the medallion.

Poison Arrow Stolen

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—A thief stole a bushman's arrow so deadly it could inflict death at the slightest scratch, museum officials reported today.

The arrow, treated with a vegetable poison, was taken from a collection in the museum. The poison can remain dangerous as long as 90 years, museum officials said.

State's Savings-Loan Assets Take Big Hike

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Californians gained more than one billions dollars in their deposits with state-licensed savings and loan associations between April 1, 1959, and March 31 of this year, bringing the total assets in the associations to $5,334,119,476.

INCUMBENT DOESN'T SHOW

Supervisor Hopefuls Discuss Issues At Candidates' Night

A second supervisorial district candidates' night, staged last night by the San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government, turned out to be a two-candidate performance before an audience of about 35.

Incumbent Supervisor William D. Fusselman did not appear, having telegraphed the Good Government president late yesterday that pressure of his schedule would make his attendance impossible and that he would state his views over radio station KTIM.

Candidate Frederic D. Kerr came out for a thorough study of combining services now performed separately by county, cities and special districts where there is overlapping and duplication. He endorsed passage of the June 7 bond issue for construction of a new county hospital in Lucas Valley.

Candidate Harvey W. Killian came out for a county charter and the Point Reyes National Seashore Area.

Both candidates expressed themselves in favor of a survey of needed repairs to major thoroughfares running through cities as a basis for the county sharing the costs with the municipalities. Such a survey was suggested in the first of four questions presented to the candidates by the Citizens for Good Government.

To a question as to whether they felt "gradual improvement" of the county hospital facilities should be undertaken instead of a complete new building, and whether Hill-Burton funds should be sought for it, Killian responded by reciting reasons the county has been unable to get Hill-Burton funds. "I believe that with perseverance sincerely applied, assistance would be granted," he declared.

Kerr noted that an engineer's study had shown that attempts to repair and modernize the existing building, while making it earthquake-proof, would be more expensive than building a new one. He said a bond issue presents the best method of financing, because a pay-as-you-go plan would add about 50 cents to the tax rate for three years.

"There is one other method that I would not agree with at all," said Kerr. "I think it is one of the most expensive methods we could possibly find. I am speaking of the so-called lease-back method. . . . Its financing cost runs many times the cost of interest on a direct bond issue."

A third, very lengthy question dealt with consolidation of taxing entities.

Killian said, "We should look into the factor of consolidating some of the cities." He also put in a pitch for charter government as a means toward reaching tax duplication.

Kerr advocated "a functional consolidation where possible."

"We have approximately 95 special districts plus the 10 cities, plus the county itself, each of them assessing taxes on the same property," he said. "I cannot help but believe that within all these, there is a great amount of duplication, overlapping and inefficiency."

But, he declared: "I do not have the feeling Marin County is ready for complete consolidation of local governments. I doubt we will ever reach the point where we will find a City and County of Marin a logical answer."

Fourth and last of the prepared questions asked what each candidate would do, as supervisor, to hold down county taxes.

Killian said, "I favor that we should look into our planning of the county as a whole and thereby bring about a more effective use for the entire county." He emphasized that the supervisors must have cooperation of the public if they are to reduce costs.

He also urged exploring "the matter of light industry for Marin County. . . . We just don't level off some ground here and there if we expect to attract light industry. You have to go to it and bring it here."

Kerr said consolidating services offered the greatest promise of reducing costs. To increase revenues, he advocated taking advantage of all available state and federal funds.

Kerr discounted the assistance that could be expected from industry, pointing out. "We have been trying (to get industry to move to Marin) and we have not been too successful. . . . I would not like to think we would go on forever dreaming of the day when the Ford Co. would build a plant here."

Instead, he urged, develop Marin resources — particularly for recreation. Here he pointed to added revenue that might come from serving tourists drawn to a Point Reyes Park, and declared "the Richardson Bay development could be of great help."

Killian said the Point Reyes Park "will be for the betterment of Marin County for many generations to come."

During questioning from the floor, someone asked the candidates' stand on the civic center issue, and whether they believed it should "again be voted on."

Killian did not commit himself.

Kerr called it "pretty late in the day now to go to the voters with this particular project," and pointed out: "If the contract were canceled . . . we would still be faced with the very pressing need for additional space for county offices." He noted some had suggested building over all the courthouse square but said, "We would be building our civic center on what is probably the most valuable piece of real estate in the county."

Another questioner asked whether the candidates think Marin's mental health facilities are adequate, and whether the county should avail itself of Short-Doyle Act funds.

Kerr said many persons concerned with mental health consider Marin's facilities almost wholly lacking and said he would favor seeking Short-Doyle funds.

"Mental health?" said Killian. "I don't feel I can make a comment on that."

Concert Given By Larkspur District Pupils

A standing-room-only crowd of more than 500 turned out last night to hear music students of the Larkspur School District perform their annual concert in the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

Produced on the theme, "America's Heritage," the musical evening involved 225 pupils from fourth through eighth grades and included the district orchestra, band, choruses from two schools and several specialty and solo numbers.

STANDOUTS

Judging from the applause, the standout performances were turned in by Gordon MacDermott, drum soloist, and three trumpeters, Robert Colburn, Andy Morse and Warren Curd.

MacDermott brought down the house with his rendition of "Jungle Echoes," a drum improvisation he composed himself.

The trumpet trio, accompanied by the band, played "Trumpets Wild," a brass specialty arrangement.

CLARINETS

Also notable was the evening's work of Steve Finston, who, with Robert Schefer, performed a clarinet duet of "Valencia" and doubled in brass to handle the bass drum work with the band.

The program was under direction of Mrs. Marjorie Whittelsey, with Kreig Vezie directing the chorus of the Neil Cummins School and Mrs. Jacqueline Palmer heading the Larkspur - Corte Madera School chorus.

Offerings ranged from "Home on the Range" to an 18th Century theme from a Mozart sonata played by a marimba and string ensemble.

Narrator was Peggy Rowse, who placed each number in its historical place in the growth of our country.

2ND DISTRICT ASPIRANTS TO ATTEND MEET

The Kentfield Civic League will sponsor a second supervisorial district candidates' night next Thursday at 8 p.m. in the College of Marin's Science Building.

Albert H. Gommo Jr., president, in making the announcement, said all three candidates for supervisor from the district have promised to be present.

Incumbent William D. Fusselman did not attend a candidates' night in San Anselmo last night, sponsored by the San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government.

Fusselman's opponents for the office are Frederic D. Kerr, Ross accountant, and Harvey W. Killian, Greenbrae insurance counselor.

Driver Injured As Car Hits Pole

Milton R. Ostrander, 45, a paper manufacturing firm employee of 25 Oakwood Avenue, San Anselmo, was painfully injured early today when the pickup truck he was driving struck and severed a utility pole near the intersection of Miller Avenue and Camino Alto, just outside Mill Valley.

Ostrander, suffering cuts on his face and bruises and his knees and hands, was taken to Marin General Hospital where his condition was described as satisfactory.

The accident happened just after midnight when the truck ran off the road, the California Highway Patrol said. The Mill Valley Fire Department arrived as Ostrander freed himself from the vehicle. A part of the utility pole rammed through the truck. Fire destroyed the vehicle. Power was cut off for a few minutes to the surrounding area. The pole was replaced this morning.

GETS GUIDE DOG

Stranger's Suggestion Changes Man's Life

An unknown stranger changed the life of a blind man recently with just one brief suggestion.

James J. Bennett of Oakland was laboriously making his way down a street, accompanied by the tap-tapping of his white cane. At a busy intersection a voice close to him said: "Here, just hold on to my elbow. I'll take you across."

Once on the other side, the stranger remarked to Bennett, "You ought to get a Guide Dog, I couldn't get along without mine." And he moved quickly off down the street, another blind man striding confidently beside his fast-stepping dog.

Next Saturday, Bennett will be presented with Ian, a German shepherd, in ceremonies marking graduation of another class from Guide Dogs for the Blind in Los Ranchitos. He will be one of eight members of the class.

Bennett was unaware that guide dogs are available without charge to sightless persons until told by the chance acquaintance. According to Ben Larson, one of the Guide Dogs trainers, the most often-heard remark of members of his classes is, "Why didn't I know about this a long time ago?"

Members of Saturday's graduating class, besides Bennett and his dog, Ian, will be:

Mrs. Elizabeth Beckman of Los Angeles, with Benita, a German shepherd; Mrs. Louise Brown of Klamath Falls, Ore., with Willie, a Labrador retriever; Mrs. Helen V. Morris of Robstown, Tex., with Phoenix, a golden retriever; Albert Naeole of Honolulu, Hawaii, with Ember, a boxer; Douglas W. Parrott of Hemet, Riverside County, with Holly, a golden retriever; Vaughan Wise of San Bernardino, with Gleam, a golden retriever, and Josephine Jungbluth of Richmond, with Vinchy, a Labrador retriever.

Public graduation exercises will begin at 2:30 p.m. The presentation ceremony is followed by a Guide Dog demonstration, a tour of the kennels and school dormitory, and an open house and tea.

Museum Gets Interesting New Items

A group of quaint ancient objects, ranging from powder horns to steam whistles, has just been added to the museum of the Marin County Historical Society at Boyd Park Lodge on B Street, San Rafael, according to Roy Graves, curator.

Two old-time powder horns used to fill shotgun shells, together with shotgun funnels, shot and shell crimpers have been presented by Carl Frederick Madsen, member of an old San Rafael family who recently visited Marin County with his sister, Mrs. Agnes Madsen Palmer.

The steam whistle came from the old steamer Gold No. 1 which plied between Petaluma and San Francisco.

In another group are old-time surgical instruments and dentist's forceps.

Also from the Madsen collection is an octagon clock once eagerly watched by pupils at the first B Street School in San Rafael. Another antique is a nickle-plated kerosene night lamp.

Madsen gave the museum three pictures of the Morton Coates Fisher estate in Ross, showing a palatial home and extensive grounds. More information about the estate is sought by Graves.

The society will sponsor an old-fashioned picnic at Boyd Park on July 30, in cooperation with the San Rafael Recreation Department, announced Thomas Peryam, president. Old-time residents are especially invited to come and bring lunches, he said. Long formal speeches will be "out" but residents able to recall early days will be invited to give formal 10-minute talks. The museum will be open all day.

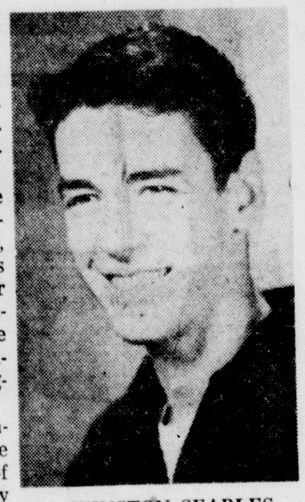
Campus Service Club To Receive Charter

Winston Searles, College of Marin freshman and president of the newly-formed Circle K campus service club, will be presented with the club's charter tomorrow by George Sylvestri, president of the San Rafael Kiwanis Club.

The college chapter of Circle K, an international club sponsored on campuses by Kiwanis, now has about 25 members Searles said. Among their other activities, the group has "adopted" a foster child in France and will assist in the education and upkeep of the youngster.

Tomorrow night's presentation of the charter will take place at a dinner at Bob's of Marin and will be attended by 16 Marin County Kiwanians and their wives.



WINSTON SEARLES
Heads new chapter

Among guests will be Dr. Ward Austin, College of Marin president; Irwin P. Diamond, dean of men at the college; faculty advisor W. H. Scalapino, Jack Simino, past president of San Rafael Kiwanis, and College of Marin board chairman Rupert E. Kempf.

The invocation will be offered by Rev. Robert Clapham.

Gary Antolini, College of Marin student body president and first president of the Circle K, will also speak at the charter dinner.

value. Historically, he said, the background of the Golden Gate is something of which all Californians should be proud.

Secondly, De Turk said, it has a great recreational potential for its uses for hiking, picnicking, camping and horseback riding.

De Mun, in describing the functions of GSA, started by saying, "I don't have horns." He said that GSA does not choose what is to be disposed of but is merely told to dispose of property. He said first an inspection is made, then county is informed to see if land might be needed for schools or parks. Cities are notified to see if they need it for airports.

He described the 73-acre area as being big enough for 222 building lots and said the GSA had many requests from developers for sale of the property.

Ehrlich asked De Mun how it is determined the land is more suitable for one use than another. "We have had the city, county and state say it is more ideally suited for open space and historic area."

De Mun said the files show the number who are in favor of the land being placed ready for private development. All of these are weighed, he said, as is the opinion of an unbiased appraiser. The final determination is made by the administrator of the GSA in Washington.

Douglass Flautt, city administrator of San Anselmo, said: "It would seem the federal government would be anxious to try to sell the land to one of the local governments first. Secondly, try to sell to some private use that it be developed for recreational use and lastly, for residential use."

Ehrlich, in closing the meeting, urged all cities to do as Sausalito has done and write to their congressmen and other government representatives.

President James A. Garfield was a preacher in the Disciples of Christ Church.

Marinwood Interchange Fund Allocated

Allocation of $650,000 for construction of an interchange between Highway 101 and the Miller Creek Road was announced today by the California Highway Commission in Sacramento.

The Miller Creek Road comes into 101 just north of the Lucas Valley Road north of San Rafael. According to information received by the Marin County Public Works Department, the Lucas Valley juncture is also due for modernization but the Miller Creek Road project is distinct.

The allocation today was one of 23, totaling 37 million dollars, added to the 1960-61 highway budget from contingency reserves and savings resulting from favorable bids on highway projects, according to Capitol News Service.

Nixon's Training

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—The Rev. Carl W. Haley, pastor of Washington Street Methodist Church, wasn't surprised at all that Vice President Nixon held up his end of a running exchange with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in Moscow. The minister was one of 13 students at Duke University Divinity School to rent a house during the depression years. Nixon was the only law student in the group and Haley says he won every argument.

kitchen sink. There are six children in the family.

One resident, who preferred not to give her name, said: "We heard 'next week' ever since we moved in." "I have six children and I can't stand dirty clothes. . . My husband isn't working and it costs too much to go to the self-service laundry.

Bert Klahn, executive director of the housing authority, said the residents were not permitted to install their own washing machines "because we want a uniform installation." The housing authority does not buy the washers, but it insists on installing them.

Klahan said a contract has been awarded and "we expect to have connections within a week . . . It was apparently an oversight on the part of the architect."

When the families moved in, they were told there would be a delay in connecting washers and getting television reception, Klahn declared.

Mrs. Barbara Bailey of 62 Cole Drive said "They won't let us hook up our own washers because they want to do it themselves." Mrs. Bailey has four children, aged three months, to five years, and said she has been doing her laundry in the kitchen sink and at a self-service laundry.

"I miss television just as much now as the washer," she said. "They promised the antenna in three to four weeks."

Klahn said a master antenna to be built on the hill behind the project has been contracted for and conduits in the five-story buildings will connect with the low one-and-two story buildings to give reception. There wil be a charge in excess of $4 per month for this service with guaranteed reception, Klahn said. He did not say when the service would be ready.

Mrs. Virginia Hall of 343 Drake Avenue said she goes to her sister's house "in old Marin City" to wash. She has five youngsters. She said they can see but one television station, KGO-TV (channel seven).

Mrs. Evelyn Lilley of 309 Drake Avenue said she is buying a television set but feels the amount to be charged monthly to hook on to the cable is too high. "I don't think it's right," she declared.

Mrs. B. Madison of 235 Drake Avenue, mother of three small children, washes in the bathtub or takes to a self-service laundry, she said. She said she sold her antenna when she moved to the new unit.

They told us the washer would be hooked up last Monday," Mrs. Lillie Mae Thomas of 68 Cole Drive, mother of three, said. "We can't see anything on TV, I don't know when they'll hook it up."

STOCKS TODAY

Stocks, irregularly higher all day, faltered under a barrage of profit-taking around the close today. The market was ultra-selective until the final hour when even some of the recently-favored electronics showed the strain of heavy selling. Other chief targets were the steel, auto and oil groups.

Volume for the day was estimated at 3,500,000 shares compared with 3,440,000 Wednesday. Pivotal issues throughout the list showed gains and losses of fractions to about a point while the trading favorites produced gains ranging from 1 to 3 points.

Casey doubted an amendment would be necessary.

New Zealand Alert Proves False Alarm

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z. (UPI)—Thousands of New Zealanders took to the hills today when they heard radio reports that the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey was predicting another tidal wave would hit the East Coast.

The state of alert, which extended to Australia and Japan, was canceled two hours later. There was no violent wave at the expected time, and tides rose only four feet above normal.

During the afternoon alert, schools were evacuated in low-lying townships. The South Island port of Lyttleton was closed for the first time since 1850. Yachtsmen and fishermen rushed to secure their craft in safer mooring.

There were only a few cases of panic reported. Police in Christchurch set up road blocks to stop hundreds of motorists rushing to the seaside suburbs to look at the waves expected to be caused by yesterday's earthquakes in Chile.

The official alerts were called off on a radio message from the U.S. naval base at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. The message said the latest tidal waves had passed Pearl Harbor causing only slight damage, and were unlikely to cause damage elsewhere.

A SIDEWALK STROLL WITH A PURPOSE

Gov. Edmund G. Brown, right, pauses for a shoeshine during his sidewalk stroll in Los Angeles yesterday. It was just one of a series of such walks planned by the governor to canvas California voters as to their preference for the Democratic nominee for president. In Southern California yesterday, Brown said he found strong sentiment for Adlai G. Stevenson and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Predicted Wave Fails To Hit Hilo

HONOLULU (AP) — A sudden tidal wave alert sent Hawaiians to high ground for more than two anxious hours yesterday and residents of Hilo, already shattered by Monday's giant waves, almost panicked.

But all was calm by midafternoon when a wave expected by way of Christmas Island failed to materialize. Christmas Island, 1,000 miles south of the Hawaiian chain, is on the path from the tremor-tormented Chilean coast.

Residents of Hilo, still searching for bodies in the debris from Monday's disastrous wave, fled low areas by foot, auto and any other available transportation.

Residents returned to their homes after the all clear.

In Hilo they returned to the task of assessing their Monday toll: Now 45 dead, 53 injured and at least 15 missing.

A brief alert was signaled on the California coast yesterday coincident with the one in Hawaii but no tidal wave developed.

Kentfield Fire Board, Postpones Meeting

The regular meeting of the Kentfield Fire Commission, scheduled for tonight at 8 o'clock at the firehouse, will be adjoined to "sometime over the weekend," according to commission secretary Larry F. Kuechler.

The postponement is caused by the absence of Commissioner Joseph L. Smith who is out of town and expected to return Saturday or Sunday, he said.

Larkspur Sets Hearing On Rezoning Proposal

A public hearing on rezoning for residential usage the land occupied by the Garden Spot Nursery at 1144 Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur, has been set for May 21 at 8 p.m. in the city hall by the Larkspur Planning Commission.

The request that the planners set the hearing came from the city council, which agreed with residents of College Park, a subdivision adjoining the nursery, that commercial zoning for the nursery represented a threat to the resident's privacy in case the property should be sold for some other of business.

Through their attorney Peter Behl of Mill Valley, the adjoining residents suggested to the council that the nursery property be placed under professional and administrative zoning with a provision added to the zoning ordinance which would permit nurseries in that zoning category.

The council decided, however, that rezoning from commercial to residential and the granting of a use permit to the nursery to continue would involve less legal complications.

New Buildings Wins Approval In Larkspur

Construction of a five-unit apartment house and two new commercial buildings, and remodeling of the Golden Gate Cleaners plant at Magnolia Avenue and King Street, were approved Tuesday night by the Larkspur Planning Commission.

Owner of the property is Mrs. Alicia Brady who was represented before the commission by Alan West. The land to be occupied by the new construction measures approximately 100 feet square.

It was Mrs. Brady's original intention to apply for more apartment units, but the number was reduced to five when she was told each unit must be allotted a minimum of 2,000 square feet. The apartments would be located in the rear of the new buildings, which would adjoin the present cleaning plant.

Surrounded By Banks

UTICA, Ohio (AP) — The Presbyterian Church here may be the only one in the nation bordered by three banks, residents say. The First National Bank is on one side, the Utica Savings Bank on the other, and in the rear is a kind of branch bank—the bank of the North Fork of the Licking River.

Bermuda, discovered in 1515 by Juan de Bermudez, a Spaniard, was acquired by the British in 1864 and became a base for the British fleet in 1767.

College Coed Selected To Visit Greece

Sue Schrager, College of Marin freshman, has been chosen by the Experiment in International Living to Visit Greece this summer.

Miss Schrager, described by Dean of Women Marjorie J Palmquist as "a good 'B' student . . . with an abundance of curiosity and initiative that could lead her into any number of interesting things," is an education major and plans to follow a teaching career.

The 19year-old brunette is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, and has been active in student affairs since enrolling in the Kentfield college.

She is a member of the Associated Women Students' cabinet, the International Relations Club, freshmen women's representative on the student governing board, and belongs to Penta Kai Dek, campus service club.

In high school Miss Schrager was active in Red Cross programs and worked with the Marin County Society for Crippled Children.

She is a daughter of Mrs Phelicia Carol, 1344 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo.

Car Catches Fire; Driver Escapes

A car caught fire in front of the Greyhound Bus depot in San Rafael about 2 a.m. today, but the driver jumped out unhurt.

Eugene John Pah, 53, of Sebastopol said the engine of his 1956 sedan ignited, and smoke began filling the car. He pulled to the curb, jumped out, and called firemen from the cab stand. Firemen controlled the fire within a few minutes.

Park Board Holds Short Meeting

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission held one of its shortest meetings on record last night, during which members informally discussed tree ordinances in various California cities and briefly reviewed town plans for planting in various small park areas.

The meeting was adjourned shortly after 8 p.m. so members could attend the Larkspur School District's annual concert in the Corte Madera Recreation Center.

GIANTS VS. PHILS

Antonelli Seeks Fourth Straight

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The San Francisco Giant swere back on top in the National League race by a full game today—thanks to Willie Kirkland's hitting, Mike McCormick's pitching and the rival Los Angeles Dodgers.

McCormick hurled a five-hitter last night to beat the last-place Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, while the world champions knocked over the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates for the third consecutive time, also 5-1.

Manager Bill Rigney was scheduled to send southpaw Johnny Antonelli after his fourth win against no defeats tonight, while the Phillies countered with righthander Gene Conley (2-1).

McCormick won his sixth of the season against two successive setbacks last night while walking but two in a game called after eight innings because of rain. Four of Philadelphia's five hits were singles.

Robin Roberts was charged with the loss, his fifth against one triumph.

KIRKLAND HOMERS

San Francisco grabbed a 2-0 lead in the second inning when Willie McCovey singled and Willie Kirkland smashed his seventh homer of the year. The right fielder also added a double and single in sparking the Giants' 12-hit attack.

Philadelphia scored once in the third during an inning that catcher Hobie Landrith isn't likely to forget for some time.

The Phillies' Joe Koppe raced home on Roberts' single and apparently was nailed before smashing into Landrith and knocking the ball from his mitt. Roberts took third on the play and attempted to score later on a grounder. He was out, but Landrith was knocked groggy.

The Giant backstop scored McCovey, who had singled, on a sacrifice fly in the fourth. The Giants added their final pair in the eighth, with Kirkland doubling home Orlando Cepeda and the batting hero scoring later on a wild pitch.

HR WASHED OUT

McCovey slammed his tenth homer of the season in the ninth with Wilie Mays on, but the rain washed it out.

Meanwhile, it was announced that Giant third baseman Jim Davenport would leave Milwaukee Hospital tomorrow and fly to San Francisco. But it may be three weeks before he resumes playing with the team. He has been under treatmnt for an ulcer since last week.

AAWU Happy With Rose Bowl Deal

SEATTLE (AP)—Big Five athletic directors met with the schools' faculty representatives today to talk about Rose Bowl football participation.

"We are extremely happy to have the Big 10 back in the Rose Bowl picture," Tom Hamilton, executive secretary of the Athletic Assn. of Western Universities Big Five, said before the session.

The conference, successor to the defunct Pacific Coast Conference, decided in March to select an opponent from among the nation's oustanding teams to play the Big Five champion in the Rose Bowl.

The Big 10, which held a Rose Bowl pact with the PCC, recently reverse a once-taken stand and decided it would consider future Rose Bowl offers.

Hamilton said no applications for membership in the conference have been received, but a number of schools have expressed interest

Drake Wins Marin Pennant With Eighth Straight Win

Marin County Athletic League's undisputed baseball championship was clinched yesterday by the Sir Francis Drake High School Pirates.

With Nino Geminiani pitching a one-hitter, the Pirates downed Novato's Hornets 4-1 for their eighth straight victory after losing the season opener back in April.

The victory, coupled with second place San Rafael's loss to Tamalpais, 2-0, put Drake three games ahead with only one to play.

Yesterday's other game saw Marin Catholic nip Redwood, 2-1.

Standings are Drake 8-1, San Rafael 5-4, Tamalpais 4-5, Marin Catholic 4-5, Redwood 3-6 and Novato 3-6.

Final games on the schedule, postponed from earlier in the season, are Drake at San Rafael and Marin Catholic at Novato this afternoon and Tam vs. Redwood tomorrow at Albert Field, San Rafael, 4 p.m.

Geminiani struck out eight batsmen and was just wild enough, eight walks, to keep the Hornets from digging in against him. Novato's lone hit was a sixth inning double by Jud Bird.

The Drake hurler lost his shutout in the seventh inning on two walks, a hit batter and an error.

Drake got all the runs it needed in the fifth when Bob Ingram's two-run double and Larry Kline's single highlighted a three-run rally. Vince Palavicini, who doubled, and Paul White, who walked, scored on Ingram's double. Ingram scored ahead of Kline's one-bagger.

The Pirates added an insurance run in the seventh when Sam Johnson's bases loaded infield single scored Kline.

Drake nicked Ron Grayson for six hits.

Tam's Russ Adams shutout San Rafael on two hits while striking out six and walking only two. Billy Roberts and Tom Mork were the only Bulldog hitters, each with a single.

Lou Piver drove across Tam's winning runs in the seventh with a single after Norm Kreuter got on via an interference ruling against the San Rafael catcher and Dennis Coleman got on with an error.

San Rafael had a scoring threat in the sixth, but a double play on an attempted squeeze got Adams out of trouble.

San Rafael's Dennis Hall pitched a nifty three-hitter.

The game required only one hour and 30 minutes.

Marin Catholic rallied for two runs in the sixth inning to win behind the fine two-hit pitching of Tom Basile in the duel with Redwood. Art Quinn and Chris Ahern drove across the runs.

Redwood took an early 1-0 lead in the seventh when John Whitney was hit by a pitch, was sacrificed to second by Ernie Bray and scored on Bud Everson's single. Everson had both of Redwood's hits.

Art Quinn had two of Marin's six hits.

YANK UPSETS CHAMPION IN BRITISH GOLF

PORTRUSH, Northern Ireland (AP)—Bob Cochran, 47-year-old businessman from St. Louis, defeated John Duncan, Irish Open amateur champion, 6 and 4, today winning his way into the quarterfinals of the British Amateur Golf Championship.

The American took only 11 putts on the outgoing nine and shattered the 38-year-old Irishman with a four-under-par 32 for those nine holes.

Cochran is the only American left in the tournament.

Alan Thirlwell, British Walker Cup player and runner-up in the 1958 British Amateur Championship, defeated Cecil Beamish of Ireland at the 19th and will play Cochran in the quarterfinals.

Howard's Mighty HR Helps Sink Pirates

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Frank Howard, Los Angeles' 240-pound rookie, has ended his first series in Pittsburgh with a bang—one that fell about 15 feet short of the longest homer ever hit in baseball.

The 6-foot-7 outfielder blasted a ball over Forbes Field's left field wall last night and it landed about 550 feet from the plate. The second-inning homer was a solo shot that helped defeat the Pirates 5-1 for the third straight time.

Asked what kind of pitch he hit off starter Jim Umbricht, Howard replied:

"I think it was a slider thrown high. But I don't know. You know how it is when you're up there hitting. A ball player can't always tell what he hits."

The distance of Howard's big blow was estimated by Joe Tucker, Pittsburgh sportscaster. He was parking his car when the ball came zooming over the wall. He stepped off the distance from the wall to where the ball hit. All told it was at least 550 feet.

The longest homer ever recorded was clubbed by New York's Mickey Mantle, a 565-foot shot at Washington on April 17, 1953. Babe Ruth is said to have hit one farther, but that came in an exhibition game.

Last year Pittsburgh's Dick Stuart clouted a homer that traveled 540-550 feet, longest in Forbes Field history. It is believed that Howard's blast at least tied that mark.

The St. Louis Cardinals defeated Milwaukee 5-3 in the ninth on George Crowe's record-setting pinch-hit home run. Cincinnati defeated the Chicago Cubs and Don Cardwell 7-4 in a game held to 7⅔ innings by rain.

The Dodgers won their fourth in a row, scoring their first four runs on homers by Howard, John Roseboro and pinch-hitter Don Demeter. Right-hander Don Drysdale, winless for a month, squared his record at 4-4 with a five-hitter.

Jim Umbricht (0-2) was the loser as a replacement for Bob Friend, who failed to start because of a throat infection.

Crowe's first home run of the season, a two-run shot off losing reliever Don McMahon (1-4), was his 11th as a pinch-hitter, breaking a tie with Smoky Burgess (Pittsburgh) and Gus Zernial (Detroit) for the major league career record. Warren Spahn went eight innings for the Braves and allowed only three hits, but two were home runs by Ken Boyer. Larry Jackson (4-5) won his third in a row, giving up nine hits but shutting out Milwaukee after Joe Adcock's two-run double in the third.

The Reds socked Cardwell (2-3) for six hits and five runs, chasing the right-hander when they scored four in the third inning. Elio Chacon's single brought home the clincher. Southpaw Jim O'Toole (4-4) won it.

Archie Shows Punch, Paunch In TV Victory

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Old Archie Moore (43?) still has the punch, but the paunch must go, before he defends his light heavyweight title against Erich Schoppner of Germany next July 18.

Moore, carrying a billowy 206½ pounds, last night scored a 10th-round technical knockout over Willi Besmanoff of Milwaukee in a nationally-televised heavyweight bout in the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The 175-pound king from San Diego was dropped to one knee by a right-handed blast from Besmanoff in the second round.

Moore went to work, dropped Besmanoff for a mandatory eight-count in the fifth and then really wrecked the plucky German with a right which caught Besmanoff flush on the beak and decked him near the end of the ninth.

Besmanoff's nose was bleeding profusely in the 10th round, and Referee Frank Gilmer, chairman of the Illinois State Athletic Commission, called it quit at 1:32.

TITLE FIGHT

Promoter Jack Fugazy of New York disclosed after the bout that Moore would defend his 175-pound crown against Schoppner on July 18, a Monday night. The site, he said, would be announced within a few days.

Moore conceded he was stunned by Besmanoff's solid right hand shot to the chin in the second. "I finally got over the right I wanted in the ninth," said Archie. "It was a right arched at 90 degrees and really bent his nose."

Besmanoff, 198½, said Moore watched his right "like a tiger" after the second round knockdown. "I missed my chance by not following up right away," said the 27-year-old German. "I tried my best, but he's the best man I ever fought."

All three officials had Moore well ahead through nine rounds. Gilmer's vote was 43-37, while judges Tony Coppi and Kelse McClure had Archie in front, 43-38, the same as the AP card.

Joseph Pulitzer, who established the Pulitzer Prizes, told his reporters on "The New York World" that, "It is difficult to see the truth when you are prejudiced, but try always to see the truth about friend or foe."

Bressoud Nearing Anniversary As Star Shortstop For Giants

CONNOLLY

To many who claimed he couldn't do it—phooey.

Eddie Bressoud has made a comeback at shortstop that is seldom matched in baseball history.

Bressoud will be "one year old" as a regular shortstop in a few weeks. It was last June, after Andre Rodgers had been given the "long count," that the young Canadian-French-Italian youth stepped in and made good in a big way.

Actually, though, Bressoud didn't have quite enough for the major leagues when he first tried it. He got a lot of chances, but in 1956 at the Polo Grounds and again in 1957, he didn't hit. Each time they sent him back to Minneapolis.

Coming to San Francisco wth the Giants in 1958, and running into competition from Daryl Spencer and later from Andre Rodgers, it seemed that the youngster lost some of his rating as being a fair fielder and a fair hitter. They began saying naughty things about him and Bressoud looked likely to slide down the soapy chute. But when Rodgers flipped and froze, or whatever he did, Eddie got a chance to play and last year actually took part in 104 games, and hit an authentic .251 including nine home runs.

The experience Bressoud got replacing Rodgers "made" him. It gave him confidence, poise and the much needed day to day play.

Right now Bressoud's playing like one of the league's better shortstops. He has a fine arm and good range and a level head on his shoulders. He seems to be working well with Blasingame and they've managed to rip off a lot of double plays the last month.

IT'S REALLY encouraging to see a kid like Bressoud overcome so many obstacles and hit the top side. He should be a fair hitter, maybe in the .270 class, and has enough character and know how to be an infield boss. He bears down all the time and with his likeable personality could become a real "take charge infielder."

Eddie, a native of Los Angeles, was scouted and signed by Dutch Ruether, who for three years bled while Eddie was "finding" himself. I remember distintcly asking Ruether who was the guy he thought should be playing shortstop.

"They got the Giants' shortstop sitting on the bench," Ruether told me, seemingly startled that I should ask such a question.

"Why he isn't even in the lineup," said I.

"He will be one of these days and he'll die of old age before anybody will ever get him out of that job," the wily Dutchman remarked.

IT IS a matter of great satisfaction to Ruether to see the kid making good.

The strange part of Bressoud's upward climb was that he broke in as shortstop under Manager Bill Rigney at Minneapolis. And Rigney has been high on him from the very start. Yet he moved the kid down the ladder to the wishes of the "front office."

One of the real tragedies of the Giants, since coming to San Francisco, involved Bressoud when he lost his wife. The setback caused Eddie to hug close to home, but fortunately he remarried and now his two kids are living happily with their new mother and Daddy is really going to town.

THE CAREER of Bressoud started in 1950 when he joined the Class "D" Springfield, Ohio Giant farm club.

In 1953 and 1954 Eddie did his bit with the U. S. Marines and missed those seasons.

But from 1955 the youngster, now 28 years of age, has steadily overcome one handicap after another, so that today we can all stand up and give the Giant shortstop a big cheer. He earned it and deserves it.

Kid Flingers Star In A.L.; Orioles, Indians Set Pace

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pitching is getting to be a young man s game in the American League. And if you need a convincer take a squint at the Baltimore Orioles and Cleveland Indians, running 1-2 in the pennant chase.

Chuck Estrada, 22, a right-handed rookie, allowed only five hits for a 3-2 victory over 40-year-old Early Wynn at Chicago yesterday that gave the Orioles a sweep of the two game series. It was Steve Barber, a 21year-old southpaw rookie, who plunked the White Sox out of first place with a seven-hitter Tuesday.

NATS BLANKED

And last night, Jim Perry, an old hand at 24, pitched an 11-inning shutout for Cleveland as the Indians defeated Washington 1-0 and stayed within a half-game of Baltimore.

Detroit tied New York for fourth place, three games behind, by beating the Yankees 9-3. And Boston finally junked its losing slump at 10 games, defeating Kansas City 5-3.

Estrada (3-1) walked four but struck out five as the Birds won their fourth in a row.

Sherm Lollar drove in both White Sox runs, tying it 1-all in the fourth with a double and dead-locking it at 2-all in the seventh with a home run. Wynn (2-2) gave up 10 hits and struck out eight.

Tito Francona's two-out single broke up Perry's shutout duel with right-handed Bill Fischer (0-1), who had a four-hitter until the 11th. Perry (3-2) allowed eight hits, walked two and struck out eight.

Frank Bolling drove in four runs for the Tigers, who won their fourth in a row as Bolling, Charlie Maxwell and Red Wilson all slugged bases-loaded doubles. Frank Lary (4-3) won it. Ralph Terry (2-2) lost it.

Don Buddin's second double and a squeeze bunt by reliever Ted Bowsfield gave the Red Sox the deciding run in the eighth at Kansas City. Bill Monbouquette (4-3) was the winner while Don Larsen (0-4) lost his 10th in a row since last June.

Another Hurdle Cleared For New Dodger Ball Park

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The city council yesterday approved a Los Angeles Dodger tract map of Chavez Ravine, thus eliminating one of the last major obstacles to construction of the 52,000 seat stadium.

The council's vote, 11-4, was taken at the conclusion of a public hearing during which opposing sides were heard. The four councilmen who voted against approval of the map were John C. Holland, Harold A. Henry, Edward R. Roybal and Karl L. Rundberg.

The Dodgers hope to have the stadium built for at least part of next year.

SPECIAL GATE FOR OLDSTERS AT BALL PARK

A new gate will be constructed in Candlestick Park for elderly and infirm Giant fans as a result of six fatal heart attacks at the stadium this season.

This was announced yesterday by San Francisco Police Chief Tom Cahill, who said the new entrance would permit automobiles to stop where no long upramp climb is involved.

Over-exertion by elderly persons who have had to make the long walk from the parking lot and the relatively steep climb up the main ramp has been blamed for some of the heart attacks.

MODESTO RELAYS

Mile, 100 Shaping Up As Thrillers

MODESTO (AP) — A pair of naturals shape up for Saturday night's running of the California Relays with top races at 100 yards and the mile.

In the 100, Ray Norton meets the man who beat him in the big surprise at Fresno two weeks ago—Doug Smith of Occidental.

And what could be better in the mile than the world record holder racing against a collegian with the best American time ever?

Australian Herb Elliott, who two years ago ran the fastest mile ever—3 minutes 54.5 seconds—will test Oregon sophomore Dyrol Burleson who ran a 3:58.6 on April 23 in a collegiate meet.

"I certainly feel I can run under four minutes here," Elliott declared yesterday as he took time off from his light training for a game of golf. He said the race time will be largely decided on whether the pace for the first 880 yards is fast.

Burleson currently is Uncle Sam's top prospect for the Olympic metric mile—the 1500 meter race.

Elliott says the 1500 he won at the Coliseum Relays in Los Angeles and his work this week have improved his condition.

"I have no definite plan for the race," he said. "If I think I'm strong enough, I'll open up much sooner than I did in Los Angeles."

Norton missed the Coliseum Relays because of a heavy cold. He had two teeth extracted two weeks ago and with the cold, his advisor, Coach Bud Winter of San Jose State, felt he should rest up.

Now they feel he's ready and Smith would like nothing better than to repeat his Fresno victory when he beat Norton by a couple of inches. Both were timed in 9.4 seconds, just one-tenth off the world record that Norton has thrice equaled.

Fresno was the first big victory for Smith, who said then that it meant little unless he could show a repeat victory.

Oregon's Roscoe Cook beat Norton here a year ago with a record-equalling 9.3. He'll be back again but because of injuries he hasn't yet come up to his 1959 form.

Porky Oliver 'Good' After Lung Surgery

DENVER (AP) — Ed "Porky" Oliver, Denver professional golfer, underwent serious lung surgery yesterday in a Denver hospital.

Oliver later was listed in good condition. He is expected to be hospitalized 10 days.

Palmer's The Man To Beat In '500' Golf Special

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)— Pro golf's best players get another shot at Arnold Palmer today in the opening round of the "500 festival" $50,000 open, and the chances are that when Sunday's payday rolls around, Palmer will be in front or close to it.

Palmer, who has missed only four opportunities to compete this year, has won five of his 16 tourney starts and has been in the top five 10 times to earn $49,803.40.

This performance might not seem surprising, except that no other player has won more than two tournaments and only four of the nearly 100 consistent competitors have been able to to do this. Palmer has nearly doubled the earnings of the runner-up, Dow Finsterwald, who has picked up $27,321.08.

Palmer was expected to get his toughtest competition in his 72-hole test over the 6,605 yard Speedway Course from Finsterwald, third-place money winner Ken Venturi, Mike Souchak, Julius Boros, a winner last week, and Jerry Barber, who has won twice this year and finished in the top five on five occasions.

The FISHIN' FOOL

By RALPH STEVENS,
I-J Fish and Game Writer

Scribe Unhappy; Hasn't Any Nice Reports For All You Fishermen

STEVENS

An outdoor writer's lot is not a happy lot—when he longs to tell a lot of people about a lot of fish in a lot of places, and forces of nature send tidal waves, rain and wind to prevent it. After the fine salmon trolling on Sunday, we had hoped to be able to transmit some good reports, but not so. The Coast Guard warned all boats against venturing out of their harbors on Monday and again on Tuesday.

The striped bass fishing became almost non-existant in all sections of the bay and Delta regions. We say "almost" for the reason that the experimental late afternoon trolling out of Crockett by Skipper Johnny Silvera, was a success. Although the water between the Carquinez Bridge and Point Dillon was rough and dirty, Captain Silvera and his very few passengers brought in seven bass to eight pounds and released as many because under the size limit. It is safe to say that the late evening trolling out of Dowrelio's Harbor at Crockett will be productive from now on for several weeks. We suggest either a feathered jig or a spoon with pork rind tail-bait as lures.

For your information, the boats out of Dowrelio's Crockett Harbor leave the dock at 5 p.m. and return close to sundown. Makes it nice for a guy or gal to drive up after work and get in a few hours of top flight fishing. Better phone for a reservation if the weather clears this weekend. That evening trolling attracts a large number each season. On Tuesday although an unpleasant day because of rain, the upper San Peblo and the Carquinez Strait were as smooth as Lake Merced on a calm day.

We wish to issue a warning at this time. It concerns tidal or giant waves. If you like to fish from the rocks along the coast, make certain you will be able to get clear and away if you see one of those waves coming at you.

We had a very narrow escape from drowning back in 1926. The wife and I clambered down from the top of the rocks near Fort Baker one Sunday. We found a flat rock 10 feet from the top and about 12 feet from the surface of the water. We placed our fishing gear, tackle boxes and lunch basket on the rock and fished.

It was a beautiful day, the sea was smooth and we caught a number of rockfish. We were about to eat our lunch when I noticed the surface of the ocean apparently rising. No breaking wave, just sort of a huge bulge in the surface. I yelled to the wife to grab hold of a rock and hang on. I found a crevice between two rocks and dug my fingers into it. The wave came in with a mighty surge It completely covered us and dashed against the rocks above us to scatter water over the top.

As it receded my legs were sucked out from under me, I was floating in the wave. My wife had her foot wedged between two rocks and was saved. The flat rock was washed clean of lunch, fish and fishing gear. I looked out over the water and saw a second wave building up. We had just time to scramble up the side of the cliff to safety when it washed over our flat rock and spewed spray over the top.

Later we learned that several people had been drowned from being washed off the rocks by giant waves in years gone by. The moral? Make certain you have an escape route before ever fishing from the rocks.

And that's it for today. Be with you tomorrow.

Paret Favored Over Champ In Title Go

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Benny Kid Paret, of Cuba, an impressive challenger who claims to be only 20 years old, is favored at 11-5 to win the welterweight crown tomorrow night from California's Don Jordan, a questionmark champion at 25.

Both boxers finished their training in good shape and took only light limbering exercises today in final preparation for their nationally-televised 15-rounder at the Las Vegas convention center the world's swankiest fight arena.

Promoters Mel Greb and Jack Doyle hope for 4,000 spectators and a gross gate of $35,000. The ticket sale fell off after Jordan's poor showing last week at Baltimore, where he lost a non-title tuneup decision to Candy McFarland of Philadelphia.

Paret, son of a Santa Clara (Cuba) sugar field worker, is favored to beat lanky Jordan of Los Angeles because of his stamina, ruggedness, aggressiveness and supposedly superior punch. Also because Champion Don lost his last two non-title bouts, on a decision to McFarland and on a fourth-round knockout to Federico Thompson at Buenos Aires, Dec. 12.

Paret fought that same Thompson at New York on March 25 and got a 12-round draw. Cuban Benny is unbeaten in his last five fights, although they include two draws. His best wins in the unbeaten string were two decisions over contender Charlie Scott of Philadelphia.

Daywalt Says He Won't Race In 500-Mile Classic

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jimmy Daywalt of Indianapolis, who qualified the Bryant Heating Special for the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, said last night he will not drive in the race Monday.

Speedway veterans could recall no previous resignation of a driver after qualification.

Daywalt announced his decision after getting only 137.5 miles an hour out of the car in carburetion tests. He said the Bryant crew had moved weight around so much in the car that its setup had been changed completely.

The first forest fire law in America was passed by the Massachusetts Bay Colony in 1631.

Decision Reversed; Marin Star Awarded Discus Win

Kent Francisco, San Rafael High School athlete, has been awarded first place in the disputed discus event at last Saturday's North Coast Section, Division 3 track and field meet at San Rafael, it was announced today.

Francisco actually won the event with a distance of 152 feet 1 inch, but later was relegated to third place when a protest, lodged on wind conditions, was accepted by meet officials.

Lloyd Gromer of San Rafael protested Francisco's throw was made during ideal wind conditions, when other athletes had to perform during the windy afternoon. Francisco was permitted an earlier start so that he could participate in a college examination.

When the protest was accepted, Francisco was dropped to third place and Santa Rosa's Jerry Gromer, who had placed second, was awarded the first place blue ribbon.

However, Meet Manager Angelo Colombo later investigated the NCS rules and found that wind conditions have no bearing on discus competition. Hence, he restored Francisco to the championship.

Mickey Thompson Accepts Challenge At Cotati Strip

Mickey Thompson of El Monte has accepted the challenge of the Cotati Raceways Drag Strip to race nodthern California's popular "Cotelli-Champion Speed Shop Special" at the Sunday, June 5, Cotati Special Drag Strip races for $1,000 cash prize.

Thompson piloting a supercharged Pontiac dragster, is America's fastest man. He holds 28 of the existing 33 world's land speed records, having set most of them at Bonneville this year. This is Thompson's first appearance outside of the Los Angeles area.

Giants Rally To Down Salt Lake, Boost PCL Lead

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Tacoma Giants came up with a big inning last night and moved out to a 1½-game lead in the Pacific Coast League.

The Giants rallied for three runs in the top of the ninth inning and whipped Salt Lake City's Bees 6-4 while the second-place Sacramento Solons were scuttled by the tail-end San Diego Padres 3-1.

Rain washed out Spokane at Seattle and Portland at Vancouver.

Bob Perry got the Tacoma rally going with an infield single. A walk, a sacrifice and three singles later the Giants had the game tucked away.

Summer School Is Solution To Teen-Ager's Idle Time Problem

Do your teen-agers have an idle summer ahead? No jobs? Nothing to do but loaf?

Then they'd better enroll in a high school summer session. Idleness is evil at their age.

What courses can they take? Almost anything. If they're behind in their credits, they can catch up. If there are subjects they've wanted to take but couldn't they can get them now. Do they have musical ability? Some summer schools specialize in music.

Do your teen-agers need more science study? The science labs will be going full blast. Would they profit from courses in literature, or in art? They are available too. They can also take shop courses or learn to use a typewriter. Typing is especially important if they plan to go to college.

Is summer school expensive? No. A few schools charge a special tuition but most of them don't. Our school year is being extended. Summer schools usually are offered as a part of the free public school program.

How about behavior? Will bad kids cause trouble in the summer classes? No. Discipline is better in summer schools than at any other time. No law requires teen-agers to attend. The bad kids usually are dropped promptly. During the regular school year most high schools are patient with troublemakers but they don't need to be in the summer.

How can your teen-agers enroll? Call your high school for information. Schools make their own arrangements.

Remember, idleness is evil for teen-agers—summer school is good for them.

(Q) "My boy is 6. His teacher says that he is bright, with a high IQ. However, he cannot concentrate more than about five minutes. What is wrong?"

A.L.B.

(A) Nothing. Very few boys of his age can concentrate that long.

San Rafael School Pupils Run Experimental Hatchery

Fifth grade pupils at E Street School in San Rafael watched chicks hatch this week, and kept score.

Beside an improvised incubator in the classroom was a large chart with four columns: "Pecked," "Peeped," "Peeked" and "Pooped Out." As the chicks went through the appropriate steps in the hatching process, pupils wrote the times in the columns.

The fifth graders, admirers of nature's own methods rather than man's imitations, fashioned a chicken's head and neck of paper and mounted it above the incubator.

Nine eggs were used in the experiment, but only four went through the entire hatching process, reported Bernard H. Bloom, teacher.

Three were broken at various stages to show development of the embryo. Two just didn't hatch. Pupils thought the incubator got too warm, maybe.

The hatching experiment, by a pupil team headed by Barbara Leskin, was just one of eight science projects under way in the class, said Bloom.

Portable Traffic Sign Suggested

Portable, battery - operated stop signs at the troublesome Miller Avenue-Camino Alto intersection in Mill Valley are proposed by the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber yesterday authorized Granville L. Beedle, secretary-manager, to write a letter to the Mill Valley City Council proposing the solution to the traffic problem.

The signs, Beedle said, would be in place of the regular stop signs which were approved by the city council last week for the intersection near Tamalpais High School.

The chamber also announced that flags are to be displayed before business houses in Mill Valley on Memorial Day, Monday.

Tiburon Cub Scouts Set Award Program

A Family Affair

LYNDONVILLE, Vt. (UPI) — The general psychology class at Lyndon Teachers College has been turned into a family affair. Attending classes are Mrs. Virginia Eaton, 39; her daughter, Mrs. Frank Follett, III, 19, her husband, 24, and his 21-year-old brother, Harrison.

Sewer Connection Request Rejected

Directors of the Almonte Sanitary District have refused the application of James L. Fowler for permission to connect to a sewer extension constructed by subdivider Alvin Long as part of the subdivision between the boundaries of the Almonte district and the Tamalpais Valley Sanitary District.

The action was taken at the board's meeting Monday evening. Chairman Jerome F. Downs said that the board cannot legally provide service to any properties outside the district boundaries. Long has been told service would be provided if the properties were annexed to the district, Downs said.

Long has not completed the annexation of the properties, Downs said.

Concert Set For June 4 At Dominican

The annual spring concert of the Winifred Baker Chorale will be presented at Angelico Hall, Dominican College, San Rafael, on June 4 at 8 p.m.

According to Mrs. Baker, who is assistant professor of music at Dominican College, the program this year will be similar to that of last year, with the chorale, Dick Ford Dancers, Byron Jones and other vocal soloists joining with a group of instrumentalists to present a widely varied program.

Tentatively scheduled for performance are excerpts from Moussorgsky's opera, "Boris Godunov," Benjamin Britten's "Hymn to St. Cecilia," and a collection of folk songs from Britain and America, as well as sea chanties and spirituals.

Student admissions will be half the small charge for adults.

The town of Pella, Iowa (population 5,000) is settled almost entirely by descendants of immigrants from Holland. Dutch is spoken as often as English in the shops.

Needlework Guild Leaders Find New Avenues To Aid The Needy

Avenues of approach for increasing aid to the needy and to disaster victims were explored when Mrs. Carl Riznik of Ross, regional chairman for Northern California and the Northwestern states, Needlework Guild of America, entertained leaders in the guild in this area at a luncheon at her home on Tuesday.

Primary purpose of the gathering was to hear the report of the national convention of the guild, which Mrs. Riznik attended at Atlantic City, N. J. April 28-30. Planning for the future was the theme of the convention, which marked the 75 anniversary of the organization.

Pursuing this theme, guests at the luncheon told how members of youth groups, the handicapped and the oldsters had made garments for the guild which distributes them through local welfare agencies. The enjoyment which the people got out of doing work with a real purpose to help other less fortunate than themselves has a therapeutic value, the speakers explained. Mrs. Milton Tonini, president of Ross branch, spoke of the wonderful cooperation of the Marin Society of Crippled Children and Adults. In spite of their handicaps the crippled people turned out an amazing number of handmade articles.

The senior citizens of San Francisco eagerly took over garment making as a special project, Mrs. E. G. Cahill reported. She is vice president of the national board and a past president of the San Francisco branch. She showed baby garments the seniors have made. The branch supplies the materials and frequently cuts out the garments. Several members told how young people's organizations, such as Camp Fire Girls and Girl Scouts, had made garments for the guild.

Mrs. Louis L. Walsh, retiring president of the San Rafael branch, said it maintains a fund to buy shoes for the needy. Mrs. Riznik emphasized the point that it is not the amount of articles donated but the quality which count and as shoes are expensive their purchase cuts down the branch's funds but this should not be a deterrent. It was suggested that men's organizations be approached for monetary donations.

Mrs. Riznik said that the convention impressed her greatly because there were "so many dedicated women." The conclave opened with greetings from President and Mrs. Eisenhower and from the lady-in-waiting to Queen Elizabeth. The guild now has 416 branches and Northern California branches turned in 40,167 garments. The branches also gave $30,000 for the diamond jubilee fund. The interest will go to expansion of the guild's program.

Also present at Tuesday's luncheon were:

Mrs. Neil Brogger, president of Fairhills Branch, Mrs. John Wilsey, vice president; Mrs. Merton Jacobs, treasurer; Mrs. W. S. Briscoe, secretary; Mrs. William Price, vice president of the Ross branch; Mrs. Arthur Luchetti, incoming president of San Rafael branch; Mrs. Charles Tacchi, first vice president; Mrs. Frank B. Henry, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Rogers, president of the Oakland branch; Mrs. Glen Hudson, past president; Mrs. Clara Wrinkle, president of the Berkeley branch; Mrs. Helen Kerr, district chairman of Alameda County; Mrs. Mildred Gall, director of the sewing group of Ross Valley branch; Mrs. David Wolf, Mrs Harry Wiel, Mrs. Charles H. Pool Jr., Mrs. Julia Podesta, vice president of the San Francisco branch; Mrs. Florence Vance, secretary; Mrs. Matthew D. O'Briend, past vice president of the national board and Florence Donnelly, society editor of the Independent-Journal.

Family Service Agency Maps Future Activities At Orientation

More than 50 women braved the rain Monday to tour the Family Service Agency and attend the follow-up orientation meeting at Board member S. K. Herzog's home in San Rafael.

Staff and Board members of the Agency joined old and new members of the Family Service League in a sack lunch and dessert, served by Mrs. Robert Elliott of Mill Valley.

Nicholas Suntzeff, executive director of the Agency, received the League's first year's grant of $500 and pointed out that such an amount can furnish the salary of a case worker for one month. He expressed appreciation for the gift from the Ross Valley Branch of the Family Service League which will enable him to bind professional journals for the staff's reference library which he is trying to build up.

The Mill Valley Branch presented him with toys and play equipment for work with children.

Mrs. Eugene Crawford, past president of the Agency Board, traced the beginnings of the Agency from the USO-Travelers Aid Service in Marin City during World War II, through the post-war period of unemployment and returning service men, to the expansion of services to include the whole county with offices in San Rafael.

Mrs. J. V. Hawley, the current president of the Agency Board, explained how the services of the Agency are financed.

Mrs. Robert Palmer was named as the chairman for Strawberry for the United Bay Area Crusade drive next October, as Strawberry, Bel Air, and the Tiburon peninsula through Belveron Gardens is the area for which the Agency Board is responsible.

Mrs. Theodore Olsen, the new chairman of the Family Service League, was introduced by Mrs. Herbert Hanson, the retiring chairman. Mrs. Olsen outlined plans for the coming year, including further orientation to other community agencies whose work relates to that of the Family Service Agency.

Mrs. T. Bland Rogers was introduced as the chairman for the main benefit event planned for the year. She announced that a Christmas Preview will be held at the Art Gallery of the Marin Art and Garden Center, Nov. 18 through 20. Distinctive gifts will be displayed from Marin County's leading shops, and Service League members will take orders from the public for Christmas giving. A champagne opening on the evening of November 17 will be invitational.

Mrs. Olsen also serves as the chairman for the Ross Valley Branch and introduced her alternate, Mrs. Arnold Wieser; the Mill Valley officers, Mrs. Robert Eddy and Mrs. Robert Elliott; the Strawberry chairmen, Mesdames Tom Groody and Warren Callister; and the new Belvedere-Tiburon branch leaders, Mesdames Barry Brennan and Patrick Healy. The chairman and alternates form a Central Council which plans the overall program for the Service League.

Mrs. Elliott will be in charge of unit development in other areas served by the Family Service Agency, such as Novato, San Rafael and Sausalito. Mrs. Brennan will be Volunteer chairman, Mrs. Eddy, secretary, Mrs. Allan Littman, treasurer, and Mrs. Callister will be in charge of the calendar.

Reed Carnival To Honor A P-TG Member

In honor of one of the most dedicated members of the Reed District Parent-Teacher Club, the second day of the Reed Carnival has been designated "Betty McKegney Fun Day." Mrs. McKegney has been extremely active in the club for many years. Single handedly she has mimeographed all of the material needed by the group. She has also contributed a great deal of time and effort toward the success of the Village Salvage Shop. This past year she has been active in the newly established Reed School Library. And she has manned the prize room at all of the annual Carnivals.

This year the Carnival will be held tomorrow from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on the Reed School grounds and Mrs. McKegney has gathered an unusual assortment of prizes. Prizes will be awarded to everyone whether they win in the booth or not. For those who do win the tickets will be cumulative and may be turned in to Mrs. McKegney. Typical of the prizes are a miscroscope for eight wins, magic tricks for four, puppets for three or a compass for two.

Friday night the Cub Scouts will be honored. Festitivies will start at the Flag Ceremony which will be followed by an award ceremony.

The two day affair will feature all sorts of games and a variety of food including hot dogs, hamburgers and pizza.

Sponsored by the eighth graders of the Reed School, unique rides will be offered. The Block R Society has painted a navy surplus truck a dazzling yellow which will be used for hay rides. Sulky rides will also be available with races scheduled every half hour.

The Carnival is an annual money raising event of the Reed District Parent Club and each of the four Units is responsible for some aspect of the affair. Unit representatives are Mrs. Milton Levitan, Bel Aire, Mrs. Joseph Marshall, Belvedere; Mrs. Sam Mercer, Reed, and Mrs. Robert Seitas, Tiburon.

Garden Society Of Marin Tour To Include 8 County Gardens

Hostesses gathered yesterday at the San Anselmo home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Andersen to prepare for the Garden Society of Marin tour of county gardens July 4.

Eight different gardens and themes will give tour members ideas and answers to their home gardening problems, Mrs. Earl Pennington, tour chairman, promises. Tour hours are from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Mrs. Andersen is on the tour organizing committee and at the same time she and her husband are preparing to show their garden during the tour.

The Andersen garden is on a level lot, with the accent on patio living. Since both are in business, their garden is essentially a weekend hobby.

Camillias, rhododendrons, azaleas, hydrangeas, chrysanthemums and fuchsias predominate. The arrangement of trees and shrubs produces interesting color effects in all seasons. A small 25 by 30 foot plot for a year-round vegetable and herb garden complements the flowers.

Other gardens on the tour will be those of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Bloom, San Rafael, featuring starting beds for chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Mack II, Terra Linda, with an unusual entrance garden; Mr. and Mrs. Peder Thorsfeldt, Greenbrae, with a small, intimate patio entrance.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rubin, Greenbrae, with an oriental treatment, including waterfall, of a corner lot.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Murdock, Belvedere, featuring a view of the bay from their hillside garden which incorporates art objects.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Leppo, Mill Valley, with their hillside shade garden, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Marten, Mill Valley, and a hillside garden of specimen plants.

End Of Term Activities Begin For Marin Scouts

With summer drawing near, end of the term activities have started for Girl Scouts all over Marin.

A Father-Daughter Breakfast on Saturday proved that the the fifth and sixth grade Intermediate Scouts of Mill Valley Troop 88 really can cook! Being one of the first groups to use the new kitchen and hall in the newly completed Mill Valley Methodist Church, the girls enjoyed preparing and serving the meal themselves. After a breakfast of pancakes, bacon and eggs, followed by an original play by the Scouts, the fifty guests agreed it should be an annual affair. Their leaders are Mesdames R. M. Weeder, V. B. Norush and Wayne Bingham.

The members of Troop 129 presented the flag ceremony at the April and May meetings of the Neil Cummins School P-TA in Corte Madera. Mrs. H. W. Kling and Mrs. Edgar Elliott, their leaders, assisted the fifth graders in fulfilling this requirement towards completion of their Second Class Rank.

Camp Lagunitas was the site of a campout last weekend for Terra Linda Troop 231. These seventh graders from Vallecito School completed thier First Class requirements for troop camping on this trip. Camping with the Intermediate Scouts were Mrs. Robert Huck and Mrs. Wiley McCollister, their leaders.

The second graders from Larkspur Troop 194 toured the Niven Nursery in Larkspur last week. Mrs. George Niven, wife of the owner, acted as guide through the nursery, which specializes in orchids. Besides seeing the countless varieties of orchids, they also learned how the plants are grown from seeds to adult plants. At the end of the tour, Mrs. Niven presented orchid blooms to each of the girls and their leaders, Mrs. Louis Volk and Mrs. Charles Keppel.

Santa Venetia Brownie Scout Troop 247 ended this term's activities with a trip to the Morrison Planetarium in San Francisco's Golden Gate Park. Following the "stellar" show, they returned to Marin for a formal luncheon at Sabellas, with their leaders, Mrs. D. B. King and Mrs. J. P. Stern.

Engvall-Wheeler Rites Held In San Rafael

Eucharist lilies and white tapers were at the altar of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael for the recent wedding of Mrs. Ruth Wheeler of San Rafael and Marin County Farm Advisor Winston Engvall.

Rev. Wesley Baker officiated for the 3 o'clock double ring ceremony.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Engvall of San Bruno.

For her wedding, the bride chose a bailerina length gown of orchid silk organza fashioned with cowl collar, fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore orchid net mitts and a bandeau of purple with orchid net. Her shoes matched her headdress and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and bouvardia.

Mrs. Leland Harvey and Barbara Wheeler, the bride's daughter, as honor attendants, wore dresses of blue nylon chiffon styled with scoop neck-lines and satin bows on the bodice. They had blue floral headdresses and carried old fashioned bouquets.

Ray Engvall of Fresno was best man for his brother and Gregory Pace of Bakersfield escorted guests to their seats.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Martha Waltzer of San Rafael, wore a silk blue and white polka dot dress with white hat and accessories. Her flowers were orchids.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a pink silk frock with pink accessories and an orchid corsage.

A reception for 150 guests followed the ceremony at the bride's home in Terra Linda.

For a wedding trip to Las Vegas, the bride wore a blue silk suit dress with black hat and accessories. Her flowers were white orchids.

The newlyweds will reside in Terra Linda.

Two Officials Spoke Out For Drug Buying Public

"There is in Marin County a situation which seems to us to deserve the attention of Governor Brown's new consumer counsel.

"It looks to us like consumers—the drug-buying public—need to be represented . . .

"What better representative than the Governor's Consumer Counsel?"

"It may even be that the California Legislature should undertake an inquiry into the situation . . . "

That's what we wrote in this space only a few weeks ago. We referred, of course, to efforts to "muzzle" a Marin druggist who continues to advertise his prices for some drugs more-or-less commonly prescribed.

We noted the efforts of some of his competitors, acting through the druggists' association, to get the State Board of Pharmacy to adopt a regulation prohibiting price advertising.

"There cannot be much competition without advertising. Suppress advertising and you suppress competition. Suppress competition and you invite prices to rise," we pointed out.

Fortunately, our "call to action" found a responsive audience.

Senator Jack McCarthy—who as the father of seven children undoubtedly has paid many a prescription drug bill—sized up the situation and went to work on it immediately. He first obtained legal opinions from the legislative counsel casting doubt on the legality of the anti-advertising proposals under consideration by the State Pharmacy Board.

Finally, he made a quick trip to Fresno last week, when the Pharmacy Board was meeting there, to register his opposition to the proposal. He presented some facts and figures indicating that publicizing drug prices had the effect of producing price competition — to the benefit of the drug-buying public.

Mrs. Helen Ewing Nelson, the Mill Valley lady who serves as Governor Brown's Consumer Counsel, also brought her influence to bear. She sent a deputy to the Fresno hearings of the State Pharmacy board to make a strong plea on behalf of the drug-buying public.

"It would be an indefensible disservice to consumers," her statement declared, "to lessen even further the scant information we are now permitted to receive and on which we must rely in deciding where to buy our family's drug needs."

The restrictive proposals, she told the board, would "limit even further the trickle of facts our druggists are now permitted to give us."

"This matter," she declared, "is of particularly great concern to consumers because, where drug purchases are concerned, the consumer does NOT have the alternative to buy or not to buy—the drug has been prescribed; he must buy it . . . If we are to have a free, competitive economy, the consumer must have the right to make a free and rational choice, and both the buyer and seller must be free to communicate with each other."

Were Mrs. Nelson and Senator McCarthy successful in getting the ear of the Pharmacy Board — comprised, of course, entirely of druggists?

That remains to be seen. One prohibitive restriction was dropped. Another was modified considerably but remains under consideration by the board. Consequently, it remains a threat.

But we can thank Senator McCarthy and the Consumer Counsel for forcefully presenting the drug-buying public's point of view to the Pharmacy Board. So far, so good; and both deserve the appreciation of all of us who make up the drug-buying public.

Let us hope their efforts attain ultimate success.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Who's Being Kidded Now

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

WHO IS BEING KIDDED?

According to the Independent and San Francisco papers, South Marin County taxpayers revolt over rising property taxes. It appears that the furor is sparked by our assessor starting a new reappraisal program in that part of the county, which the poor harrassed taxpayers feel, and rightly so, is bound to mean more taxes.

It does seem rather soon and unprecedented to start a reappraisal, after the county, at a cost to the taxpayers of $1,300,000, a very short time ago completed a county-wide reappraisal. Acceptance of this reappraisal, you will recall, was rushed through by the majority of the Board of Supervisors, without proper time for checking by the assessor. Obviously because this was another means of getting more taxes sooner, rather than having to wait another year.

The assessor very properly explains that he does not fix tax rates, nor does he have any control whatsoever over taxes. However, past experience has taught us that as soon as your assessment goes up so does your tax bill. It is a habit by all but a few tax fixing authorities to adjust the budget to the tax rate, rather than, as should be the case, the reverse.

After explaining the reason for starting this reappraisal program, he is reported to have added the following comment:

"The remedy for those who believe taxes to be too high is to make their views known to the county, city, school, sanitation and other districts serving them . . . it can be inferred that taxes are the cost of the services that the people ask their government to provide."

I have no doubt the assessor is sincere in his statements, but who is being kidded? Who is really responsible for squandering taxpayer's money on, as one example, the new civic center? Here the majority of the Board of Supervisors authorized the building of a monument with luxuries and frills for themselves and other county departments costing the taxpayers in architect's fees alone 25% more for the employment of Frank Lloyd Wright, since deceased, than standard rates. And let us keep in mind that continuance of this extravagant expenditure was given the benevolent nod by this same majority after his demise, when it was known that his guiding hand — for which the extra fee was authorized — would not be available.

The waste of taxpayer's money is estimated to run into millions, not only in unnecessary frills, but continuous excessive maintenance needs. Add to this the danger of rapid obsolescence, as was the case of the much publicized Imperial Hotel in Tokyo. Here apparently the hotel owners found that they could not afford or justify continuing the Wright plans, but reverted to building new additions along sane and practical lines.

As far as I know, no tax levying public body in the United States, including the federal government, has felt justified to spend that much money for like purposes. They, like private industry generally, confine themselves to practical, efficient, purpose serving buildings, giving the taxpayer maximum value for his dollar.

For many months, if not years, prior to the letting of the first civic center contract, the taxpayers were up in arms and vociferous in their protests. A petition signed by several thousand was presented requesting that this all-important matter be submitted to a vote, giving those who pay the bill a voice. Were these objections and petitions seriously considered? Were they heeded? No!

It is reported that justification for ignoring them was that we taxpayers really do not know what is good for us. That it takes the elected tax-spending bodies to make those decision, so the majority went merrily along and we taxpayers are in the soup.

I believe the South Marin Supervisor, representing her taxpayers, claimed that last year's tax rate did go down. Yes, 7 cents per one hundred dollar valuation, but did your tax bill? Very few, if any, did not pay a great increase in tax last year over previous years.

Your paper reports: "Mrs. Schultz asked the county counsel if the supervisors have any power to regulate the activities of the assessor." Again, who is being kidded? Who is blowing smoke in your eyes? What has regulating the assessor got to do with taxes, excepting giving the elected tax-levying bodies a means for more revenue?

The question should be, and it has been raised and studied by many — how can the taxpayer regulate the supervisors in their free-spending activities?

After all the studies of how the taxpayer can protect himself, we still, so far, have only one answer — at the polls, the only way to bridle this reckless spending. So far, our economy-minded supervisor from Ross Valley who has championed the cause of the taxpayer, has had little support. Next June would seem an opportune time to balance the Board of Supervisors in favor of economy.

Let's Reassess Every Year, It'll Only Cost About 10 Times As Much

It is a source of grief and consternation to find an able bureaucrat like Marin County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel overlooking Parkinson's First Law.

Parkinson, as I recall, is an English writer. He laid it down as axiomatic that any time there is a job possibility in the public service, enough people will instantly flow in to fill every place regardless of whether there is any work to be done or not.

Yet Broemmel, with plenty of work to be done, says Marin can't get its property revaluations in one large non-economy package. This is merely because he feels there aren't enough people to handle it. Presumably he feels there can't be.

THIS IS PRETTY scandalous doctrine, likely to stir up as much excitement among bureaucrats as Broemmel's system of revaluing one-quarter of the county per year is stirring among Southern Marin taxpayers.

Marin County in fact could reappraise in toto once per year, or for the matter of that once per week. It's just a question of hiring the help to get the job done.

That the help would cost money and cause the taxpayers to bleed, is not the kind of thing any good sound bureaucrat ought to think about a second time, or even a first time.

After all, what is Broemmel's job anyway but to wound the taxpayers? — in some cases, to hear them tell it, nigh unto death.

NO RULE of diminishing returns applies. The faster he can revise Marin valuations upward the faster the tax money will come in with no raise in rate, perhaps even with a seemingly merciful drop in rate.

On the question of his current policy of revaluing one-quarter of the county and imposing this higher selective rate right away quick, Broemmel has already won a rousing victory.

Last Saturday the Marin County Board of Supervisors met to consider what if anything could be done to roadblock Broemmel. Having been told, repeatedly, that nothing could be done, they did nothing — and mighty convincingly, too.

In two opinions County Counsel Leland H. Jordan advised, first the supervisors of their impotence as to even influencing the policy of the assessor, then the assessor of his omnipotence as to keeping on doing what he's been doing.

The California Supreme Court, in upholding policy of continuous reappraisals gradually applied, was quoted as recognizing "the physical and economic impossibility of reviewing all property in a single year."

Courts are credulous. They are always behind events, not ahead.

WHAT BROEMMEL should do is confound his critics and the court by giving full equality to us all by sticking us the top limit every year. It could be done.

Let us say that "x" number of officials can do one-quarter of a job in a year. Simple bureaucratic math will show that it will take hardly more than about "10x" number to do the whole job in that year.

As to the economic aspect, naturally it would cost more to hire 10 times Broemmel's present staff, just as it might cost slightly less to hire half as many. But it is simply a matter of degree, not of principle.

THE TRUE American spirit of MacArthur, Eisenhower and Elbert Hubbard demand a really aggressive attitude, perhaps a little spendthrift. Give us justice and hang the expense. If necessary, hang some of us taxpayers too; it would be quicker and more merciful than slow starvation.

Let us not at this late date innovate pinchpenny economical policies quite likely of Soviet origin.

Living in Southern Marin myself, and being in a peck of trouble, I like the equitable idea of spreading the trouble around. There is enough for all.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Events Of Next Few Months Will Determine If Ike Right At Summit

PARIS — There can be no doubt that the brutal charade which we have witnessed in Paris, instead of a summit conference, will have a direct bearing on the presidential campaign.

What was intended to take place was a world's heavyweight peace conference. What actually took place was a diplomatic prize-fight which was fought in the dressing room without a referee.

We do not yet know who really won — if anybody.

The Eisenhower administration and the Republican presidential nominee can't possibly be helped by this summit fiasco and could well be hurt quite seriously.

THE ADMINISTRATION campaign theme that the "experienced" Republicans are qualified above others to deal better with the Soviets was not borne out by the "summit which never was."

There has been an instinctive rallying behind the President because of Khrushchev's egregious insults. But now as the shock of verbal barrage wears off, the question will begin to be seriously asked whether Eisenhower's courteous, low-voiced, no-comment response was the best way to respond to an international bully.

EISENHOWER and Secretary Herter may reasonably contend, as their spokesmen here did to the end, that if it weren't the spy plane incident the Soviets would have found another pretext to have boycotted the meeting; that by giving Khrushchev unlimited rope, he has hung himself by his own tantrums and that the Western allies are more united because of Moscow's angry tactics.

But this optimistic view may not hold up. Certainly the Democratic leaders are not going to allow the administration to enjoy unchallenged the argument that it had no responsibility for giving some of the propaganda advantage to the Soviets and that this summit circus represented the most experienced way of dealing with the Kremlin.

In almost a literal sense Khrushchev barged into the President's dressing room, hurled the Marquess of Queensberry rules through a plate-glass window, started biting, kicking, kneeing, eye-gouging, and hitting below the belt.

DID EISENHOWER choose the right course in meeting such indignities with nearly silent detachment? Was it really a sign of strength and moral rightness befitting the leading power of the West, to take such crude treatment without stating our feelings and our views bluntly to Khrushchev's face?

Most important of all: won't the Soviets take the President's failure to answer back as a sure sign of personal and national weakness; be tempted to count on more of it in the coming months — and thus perilously miscalculate the realities?

Summit correspondents who have worked in Moscow and some officials within the American delegation fear that the United States by seeming too proud to talk back, has dangerously misled the Kremlin.

Events in the cold chill of the next few months will alone give the answer.

NOSES AND NOSES—James T. Hammons, director of the First Congressional District census, looks over forms with Mrs. A. M. Hale with Mrs. James Hurlbut, Mrs. Y. E. Smith and Mrs. Edward Sokolis in the background at headquarters in Santa Rosa. They have the job of seeing that your nose, and yours and yours, has been counted. (Santa Rosa Press-Democrat photo)

Your Nose Uncounted? Don't Be Shy—Phone

There are sure things like death and taxes.

And noses

Has yours been counted? If not, you are not helping reduce taxes, and show how death really isn't so sure a thing.

We all know say the census counters, that Marin's population has grown since 1950, the last time the government took the trouble to find out how many of us there are. But we don't know just how much.

In neighboring Sonoma County, the figures on all our noses and a lot of other seemingly nosy information are being compiled at First Congressional District census headquarters.

The man in charge there is James T. Hammons. He says not all the noses have been counted in Marin. And he says he will not release any partial information on those counted so far.

What he really is saying, in part, is that it is the people's own fault. Some of us have inferior-census complexes and don't want to be counted.

But, because allocation of federal and state funds in many categories are dependent on population, the bigger the better, the more noses we have the lower our local taxes will be.

This is one good reason, say the census takers, that you should be counted.

Another reason: You are likely to be better represented in the state legislature.

If you have not been called upon by a census taker you may call GL 4-5100, a telephone answering service. Arrangements have been made by the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce to get your noses counted, any time of day or night, if you call this number. You just tell the operator your street and post office.

Don't sneeze over it, it may work.

Marin GOP Chief Reports On Party Accomplishments

The final meeting of the present Marin County Republican Central Committee was held at the county courthouse Tuesday night, with chairman Elmer S. Worlund of San Anselmo reporting on accomplishments of the past two years.

Establishment of a permanent headquarters and creation of a strong precinct organization were the principal achievements, Worlnd said. The committee will turn over a treasury balance equal to that inherited from the preceding committee.

Congressional candidate Fred G. Dupuis reported a district-wide committee on his behalf has been formed, headed by former State Highway Commissioner Robert Bishop of Santa Rosa. with Roger F. Morse, Corte Madera town councilman, as Marin chairman.

Mrs. Robert Irwin, women's vice chairman, reported on a new precinct setup with Mrs. Earl Thompson of Sausalito and Mrs. Robert Milmoe Jr. of Greenbrae serving as coordinators for the district chairmen.

Sales Tax On Medicine Is Just One Thing Too Much

Proposal of Marin Senator John F. McCarthy to free prescription medicines from sales taxes makes sense.

McCarthy, in announcing he would introduce legislation at this year's session of the Legislature to eliminate the tax, called it "an unconscionable burden on people least able to pay."

We'll certainly second that sentiment. Anyone who has had illness in the family knows enough about the high cost of sickness—hospital bills doctors' bills, medicine bills—to wish even a small escape.

Under McCarthy's plan, which would exempt drugs and medicines from the 4 per cent sales tax, the state would lose $5,000,000 annually in revenue, according to an estimate by the state legislative auditor.

Looking at this another way, the exemption would save $5,000,000 per year for the people paying the cost of illnesses. Those little four per cent additions certainly do add up. They represent a medicine-drug bill of 125 million dollars a year in California.

With Gov. Edmund G. Brown already predicting surpluses for the next fiscal year of 70 million dollars or so, it seems an ideal time to give a little break to someone who could use it.

The cost of medicine is high enough right now, as recent congressional studies have emphasized. Adding another four cents to each $1 the medicines cost is, as the senator said, unconscionable.

Exempt Drugs From Sales Ta

ANOTHER fight to exempt prescription drugs and medicines from State and local sales taxes will be undertaken in the Legislature at the forthcoming budget session.

Doubtless with the blessing of an overwhelming majority of Californians, State Senator John F. McCarthy will introduce an exemption bill in the hopeful belief that prospects of a budget surplus will overcome objections that have consistently defeated its predecessors.

In the past, it has been pleaded that exemption of drugs and medicines would directly deprive the State of substantial sales tax revenues—now estimated at $5 million a year—and that it would open the door for exemptions on numerous other kinds of goods and merchandise.

Now in its eighth week at Sausalito's Gate Playhouse, "Where's Charley?" is offered to students at half regular admission prices Friday. Curtain time for performances Fridays and Saturdays is 8:30 p.m.

Staged by Leslie Abbott, the musical features Don Staiton in the dual role of an Oxford undergraduate and his own Aunt, "a lady from Brazil where the nuts come from." Staiton is an undergraduate himself, a student at College of Marin.

Appearing prominently in the comedy are Jerri Burnett, Sharleen Lambert, Ralph McGlothlin and Justin Bishop.

RODS FOR 'RITHMETIC — These youngsters in the first grade at Lynwood School in San Jose are using "Cuisenaire-Gattegno rods" to learn arithmetic. Working with teacher Annie Lea Comer are Kathy Ansley and Lee Hotchkin. Some teachers in the Dixie and Novato districts also are using the rods on an experimental basis to let youngsters see and feel number relationships.

PLAYTHINGS, TOO

Magic Rods Aid Pupils In Learning Arithmetic

Pupils in three school districts in Marin are learning arithmetic in an unconventional and faster way, with the aid of little rods.

An example is in the first grade at Lynwood School in the San Jose district, where youngsters can add, subtract, multiply and divide at an age when their parents still had to count fingers.

The new learning method is the use of Cuisenaire-Gattegno rods, named for their inventor and chief exponent. The rods are small pieces of wood, each piece a specific color and size which represents a number.

Youngsters can line up three size-3 rods and a size-1 rod, place a size-10 rod beside it and actually see and feel number relationships.

Use of the rods is not confined to the lower grades. Lynwood Principal Joseph Mouille reports that college-age students are using them in higher mathematics.

Mouille and first grade teacher Annie Lea Comer are enthusiastic about the method, when used with blackboard, paper and pencils to relate the number symbol to the piece of wood.

The three districts in which some classes are using the method experimentally are San Jose, Dixie and Novato districts, all in North Marin.

The method is used on a strictly voluntary basis by teachers' in addition to state-required texts. Volunteer teachers of the method must have extra training to use the rods effectively.

Mouille explained that the method is new only to the United States He said it has been in use in Belgium for about 25 years. It is in use also in parts of England and Canada.

Youngsters in a Lynwood first grade class seemed enthusiastic and eager to use the rods to learn. Besides, when the teacher isn't looking, you can build bridges, cabins and all manner of wondrous things.

And the teacher may not mind—the play is a part of the teaching method aimed at bringing numbers to reality.

Measles, Mumps Rates Slightly Down In Marin

The measles-and-mumps rate declined somewhat in Marin last week.

However, Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer, said 29 new cases of measles and 14 of mumps were reported to her office last week.

Twenty-two measles cases were in San Rafael, with four in Larkspur, two in San Anselmo and one in Novato. San Rafael had 10 of the mumps cases, with two reported in Mill Valley and one each in Larkspur and San Anselmo.

A case of pertussis was reported in Marin City, and a case of streptococcic infection in San Rafael.

San Rafael Bird Wins Pigeon Race

A pigeon flown by Jack Tognetti of San Rafael won the Tamalpais Homing Pigeon Club's race from LaPine, Ore. last weekend.

Although the course was stormy all the way, the first place pigeon averaged over 40 miles an hour. It took the bird 9 hours and 47 minutes to fly the 400-mile course.

Next Saturday the Tamalpais Pigeon Club will hold a race from Kent, Ore., which is about 500 air miles from Marin County.

HE CAN STILL HELP HIS DAD

A broken leg is no excuse for not helping daddy, young Brian McCarthy learned. Victim of a recent ski accident, the 7-year-old son of State Sen. John F. McCarthy found he could no longer help with the bumper strips publicizing his dad's campaign for reelection. So instead, he went to work in the senator's campaign headquarters stapling mailing brochures. Brian's older brothers are also helping their father in his effort to capture both the Republican and Democratic nominations in the June 7 primary and thus nail down another term in the senate.

Engineer Assails Fluoridation Plan

The Marin Municipal Water District report on the cost of installing and operating equipment for fluoridating its water has been attacked as "very deceptive" by J. A. Campbell, a Long Beach engineer, who made a study at the request of the Marin Pure Water Committee, Inc.

The committee is opposed to the fluoridation of the district's water supply. The issue will come to a vote June 7.

"The people of Marin have been submitted some very deceptive figures," Campbell said in a report issued by the committee. "The report brings up a question. Will sodium silicofluoride be used or will sodium fluoride be used?"

Campbell quoted the district report as saying, "For treating smaller flows of water the use of a smaller feeder and sodium fluoride (42 per cent fluoride rather than 60 per cent as in sodium silicofluoride) is recommended."

Campbell asserted the report is based on using sodium silicofluoride, and no mention is made about the amounts of water to be handled by individual installations.

He said the report shows the cost of equipment and installation for five plants would be $26,415, about a 24 per cent increase over 1950 costs in a study prepared by the same persons. "Any competent engineer knows that construction costs in the past 10 years have increased 75 per cent to 100 per cent," Campbell said.

Campbell said that while motors are mentioned in the report there is no expense item for electricity, and he said pipe is mentioned for only two installations.

He attacked the labor estimate for installation as "ridiculously low" with only $200 for the San Geronimo filter plant, and no item for labor at the Phoenix Lake plant.

Campbell said the report "contemplates storing this deadly poison in the same buildings as other water treating chemicals. This should not even be considered."

He added that giving the equipment a 20-year life expectancy "is out of all reason. This fluoride is so corrosive that it eats up the equipment in two years so badly that it is dangerous to continue with its operation."

Campbell also condemned the idea that uniform flow of distribution of any chemical in a large flow of water can be accomplished, and that it might "be suicidal to attempt to operate . . . without an automatic continuous fluoride content analyzer." He quoted the report as saying there would be no supervision on Saturdays and Sundays. He said shutoff equipment would cost approximately $6,000 for each installation "and already your costs are more than tripled."

He said the estimated maintenance cost should be $1,000 a year per plant, instead of $1,000 over all. In all, he said that installations with "sound design . . . (for) qualified supervision" would cost four times as much as indicated in the report.

There were 775 female prisoners in Federal penitentiaries at the end of 1958, and 771 in the state prisons of New York alone.
